

NEW LEFTIST COALITION IN SPAIN

KILLERS ELUDE POSSEMEN

John Brito, at left, and his brother Coke Brito, accused of slaying three men, one of them a deputy sheriff, are believed to have eluded possemen in one of California's greatest manhunts, and fled across the state line into the Applegate country, in Oregon, one of the wild-set regions of western United States.

Marines Admit Placing Red Flag Over Embassy

PEIPING, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Five U. S. Marines were court martialed today. They were charged with running up a red flag on the U. S. embassy here.

Four of the group were charged, the embassy, knocked him out and took his service revolver. They were A.W.O.L. for several days until arrested by marines. After their arrest a fifth marine, Private J. C. Dowden, was implicated in the flag-raising, though not in the assault on the embassy. The five pleaded guilty as charged. The court's sentence will not be announced until after it is approved by the navy department.

STRATHMAN WILL REFUSE TO SERVE ARBITRATION BOARD

FOLLOWING statement accredited to Lucas Lucio as made to M. Sasaki, Japanese ranchers' representative, to the effect that there would be no vegetable workers' strike in Orange county if Stuart Strathman, Placentia, would remain off of the arbitration board during the next year, Strathman today declared "that will be just fine."

Last night at a meeting of American and Japanese ranchers at the Farm Bureau headquarters here, Strathman explained his stand as a member of the Orange county arbitration board, pointing out he did not want the job, but was only entering the discussion upon insistence of the ranchers. "Mr. Lucio told Mr. Sasaki, grower member of the grievance committee, last night that if the growers would not name me as their representative on the arbitration board, that the workers would be satisfied with and abide by a new arbitration award of 25 cents per hour," Strathman said today. "If that is the case, I positively will refuse to act as the growers' representative on that arbitration board and will sign a statement making that a condition of the award."

Workers Meet Tonight
Lucio, representing the workers, said today that another meeting of the workers will be held tonight at Juarez Colony, two and half miles northeast of Talbert, when final decision regarding renewal of the contract between workers and growers, will be made. The old agreement expired August 31, and the growers have agreed to renew it at the same field workers' wage scale, 25 cents per hour.

"I ask the workers' representative, Lucio, to make good on his

SEAMAN CONFESSES SHARE IN SHIPBOARD MURDER PLOT

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—District Attorney Earl Warren said today that Frank J. Conner, seaman arrested in Seattle by Federal agents in connection with the shipboard slaying of George Alberts, had confessed participation in the crime.

Warren said, however, that Conner insisted he had been implicated unwittingly in the knife killing aboard the freighter Point Lobos March 22, in which Alberts, chief engineer, was stabbed to death. Conner assertedly designated George Wallace, already under arrest, and Ben Sachowitz, sought in the case, as the actual slayers. He told Warren, it was said, that his only part in the slaying had been to point out Alberts' stateroom to Wallace and Sachowitz when they came aboard the ship to "settle with Alberts."

Warren said Conner insisted he did not know Alberts was to be slain.

Implicates Union Secretary
Conner, Warren said, also implicated Earl King, maritime union secretary, who is under murder indictment in the case with E. H. Ramsey, Wallace and Sachowitz. Warren said Conner told him King demanded "something be done about this tough guy Alberts across the bay."

Three Power Navy Building Race Looms

BRITISH, U. S. TO COMPETE WITH JAPAN

England Precipitates Test By Invoking "Escalator Clause" In Treaty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The props were set on the world stage today for the start of a naval construction race among Great Britain, Japan and the United States.

Following Great Britain's invocation of the "escalator clause" of the London naval treaty to retain in active service 40,000 tons of over-age destroyers scheduled, under the treaty, to be scrapped by Dec. 31 of this year, the Japanese government formally notified the United States and Great Britain Japan would retain in service 15,538 tons of over-age submarines and 11,059 tons of over-age destroyers which the treaty said should be scrapped by Dec. 31.

While officials of the state and navy departments were reluctant to comment on the Japanese move, it was generally indicated the United States probably will follow Japan's lead and retain on active service a number of over-age submarines instead of scrapping them. This is the position the United States took with regard to Britain's action in retaining 40,000 tons of over-age destroyers.

Stage Is Set
Full effect of a general move by the three leading naval powers in retaining over-age ships in active service may not be felt immediately, it was pointed out, but their retention sets the stage for a general construction race after the London and Washington naval limitation treaties expire on Dec. 31.

In this connection it was pointed out the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strengths, originally agreed upon at the Washington naval limitation conference in 1922, was based upon warship tonnage then actually afloat in the respective navies.

Thus, while officials here feel retention of this over-age tonnage in destroyers and submarines raises no great problem in relative naval strength.

OPEN BIDS FOR COAST HIGHWAY

THE NINE-MILE strip of Coast highway, lying between the Archers near Newport Beach and Laguna Beach is to be widened 10 feet, according to an announcement made today by County Highway Commissioner Nat Neff. Bids on the job were opened yesterday in the Los Angeles office of the State Highway commission, with the Los Angeles firm of George R. Curtis entering a low bid of $172,176. No contract has been awarded as yet.

Construction of a bridge across the Santa Ana river at Bolsa avenue is expected to start within the next 20 days, Neff reported today. The project is to cost approximately $52,235. J. F. Knaap of Oakland was awarded the contract following opening of bids in Sacramento yesterday.

A new high for one day's highway projects was reached today when the state division of highways announced awards of contracts and opening of bids totaling more than $1,500,000.

Eighteen highway contracts were awarded by Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, calling for the expenditure of $1,059,536, and bids for contracts totaling $558,947 covering improvements in 10 counties were opened.

Details of the alleged confession reported by Warren were: Alberts discharged a fireman aboard the freighter on March 21, the day before he was slain. King reprimanded Conner for not "taking care of Alberts," who long had been actively opposed to "radical" tendencies in the local maritime unions.

Noblemen Form Union At L. A. Conference

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Annoyed by the rapid growth of the "phony noblemen racket," a select group of princes, counts, dukes and barons today formed themselves into the European Nobility Association of Southern California.

Baron Hans Nordewin von Kaeber is president; Prince Kurt B. Zur Lippe-Wieddenfeld, vice president; Prince Nicolas Tokhotoua, secretary. Prince Alexander Goltz and Prince Leon De Kibour are co-founders. "Mutual Protection" is the announced purpose.

LANDON, F. D. R. CLOSE PARLEY

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 4.—(UP)—President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon turned back to the presidential campaign battlegrounds today after a midwestern drought relief conference that disclosed much in common on ideas on how to aid the sun-blistered farm belt.

A momentous one-day truce in the political war brought the rival presidential candidates face-to-face across a desk in the Iowa State capitol, permitted them to exchange ideas on drought relief for 40 minutes, to discover where they agreed or disagreed, and to get a general idea of the program in the states of six other

A. F. OF L. TO SHUN NEWSPAPER STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor will not intervene on the American Newspaper Guild strike on the Seattle, Wash., Post-Intelligencer, William Green, A. F. of L. president, announced today.

Heywood Brown, president of the Guild, said he regarded the decision by the Federation to be favorable to the Guild.

"The fact that the Federation has decided to take no action against the Seattle Central Labor union which placed the P-I on its unfair list," said Brown, "contributes a distinct victory for the Guild."

MERRIAM IN ATTACK ON ALL LYNCHINGS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Governor Frank F. Merriam today said he was "unalterably opposed to lynching as a method of punishment or as a means of teaching a lesson."

Discussing the lynch threats connected with the search for the Brito brothers in Yreka, the governor added:

"In the first place, civilization cannot advance without proper regard for the processes of law and order. California courts are established for the purpose of protecting the individual when he needs it, as well as punishing him when he deserves it."

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF NAVAL OFFICER

WALLEJO, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Mare island navy yard officials today conducted two investigations into the reported suicide of Lieut. Wiley N. Hand, 37, officer on the U. S. S. Maryland.

PILOT LEAPS FOR LIFE AS SHIP BREAKS

Joe Jacobson Has Narrow Escape From Death When Chute Opens

STAFFORD, Kans., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Joe Jacobson, Kansas City aviator flying in the Bendix Air Derby from New York to Los Angeles, was blown out of his airplane today when it exploded 5000 feet in the air but managed to descend safely in his parachute after an exciting few moments in which it appeared the chute would not open.

Jacobson came to earth in a field and was brought here by the farmer on whose land he came down.

"I was blown clear out of the plane," he said. "It felt as though I had been hit on the head with a hammer."

"When I came to, there was fire and pieces of the ship all around me."

"I pulled the ripcord of the chute and got fouled in the shrouds."

"I managed to get the chute straightened out and landed okay."

All I could find of the ship was about a foot of one wing tip. It just went all to pieces."

STATE FAIR TO OPEN SATURDAY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Final preparations for California's biggest state fair were being rushed today as the opening of the state's 82nd exposition drew near.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam will turn a golden key at 10 a. m. tomorrow and formally open the fair which is expected to draw 50,000 visitors to see "California on Parade" during a 10-day run.

Meantime the Governor was to broadcast a general invitation to all of California to take part in the colorful exposition. Fair officials expected an opening-day crowd of at least 70,000 persons.

All children under 15 years of age were to be admitted free.

Following the formal opening of the exposition, the state fair directors and Gov. Merriam will be hosts to California editors at a luncheon which will feature the celebration of the fair's annual Press day.

Indicative of interest in this year's exposition, more than 300 reservations have been received for the luncheon, a 30 per cent increase over former years.

In addition to the thousands of exhibits which will tell the story of California's vast resources, the fair will provide a pretentious program of entertainment, including an amateur contest with participants from virtually every district of the state.

Tomorrow afternoon fair crowds will see the first of the daily racing programs. A new and improved system of pari-mutuel betting has been installed and directors were confident that the $213,987 "handle" of last year would be exceeded by a substantial amount.

Landon Leads Roosevelt 2 To 1 In First Check Of Digest National Poll

LONDON LEADS ROOSEVELT by over 2 to 1 in the first scattering of returns from four eastern states in The Literary Digest's nationwide Presidential poll.

The combined vote in Maine, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, from which ballots are reported in a copyrighted article in the current issue of the magazine, shows 16,056 votes for Landon and 7,645 for Roosevelt.

Lemke polls 754 of the total of 24,689 votes tallied which is fractionally over 3 per cent.

The Socialist candidate, Thomas, receives a total of 109 ballots and the other four minor candidates divide 125 votes.

Heavy Lead in Maine
Landon's lead is greatest in Maine, where he gets 1831 to Roosevelt's 522 votes.

New Jersey voters sent in 2650 ballots marked for the Republican candidate, and 1621 for the Democratic nominee.

The early returns from New York show the President trailing with only 2724 votes to his opponent's 5381.

Pennsylvania, which was one of the six states to give Hoover a plurality four years ago, now ballots 5634 for its native son, Landon, and 2778 for Roosevelt.

The Literary Digest cautions in its editorial columns that these returns are meager and should not serve as a base for any extensive predictions of the final outcome. The magazine also points out that none of the ballots in its first poll report came from the large metropolitan areas of New York City, Philadelphia, or Pittsburgh.

Analysis of Vote
An analysis of how the same voters voted in the 1932 election reveals that each candidate is

KILLERS ELUDE SEARCH PARTY

YREKA, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Meager clues picked up by possemen in one of California's greatest manhunts indicated today that John and Court Brito have sought refuge in one of the wildest regions of western United States—the Applegate country north of the Oregon state line.

"If that is the case," said Sheriff W. G. Chandler, "it may be months or years before anyone sees them again."

Supporting this contention was discovery of several tracks in the Little White Mountain area by four Klamath river trappers who have been conducting an independent search for the two accused triple slayers since Monday.

Quartet Finds Tracks
The quartet—Chris, Herman and Levi Nelson, and Alex Maplesden—reported they had found tracks which they believed were made by the fleeing Britos on the mountain 25 miles west of Sterling Peak and four miles south of the Oregon line.

They followed the tracks until dark Monday, found them again at dawn Tuesday and traced them far into the wilds before a rainstorm wiped out the marks.

The tracks were headed directly toward the Applegate territory—a wild and desolate region, cut by deep canyons and rough, craggy ridges. Few white men ever have been there, and as far as old-time residents here know, no one lives there.

Once the fugitives were established in the heart of that region, Sheriff Chandler believes, they might be able to sustain themselves indefinitely, because game of all types abound there.

CABALLERO HEADS NEW GOVERNMENT

Loyalist Militiamen Kill Rebel Captives, Flee As City Of Irun Falls

MADRID, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The attempt of the rebels at Talavera, west of Toledo, to break the loyal lines barring the way to Toledo and Madrid may be considered to have failed, the government was informed today.

The rebel offensive started Wednesday night from Oropesa with a rifle and machine gun attack, to which the loyalists replied in kind. At intervals groups of cavalry appeared with machine guns mounted over the heads of their horses, but were repulsed.

MADRID, Sept. 4.—(UP)—A new left coalition government was formed today under the leadership of Largo Caballero, Socialist leader.

The new government is composed of six Socialists, two Communists, one member of the Republican union, one Catalan, one leftist Republican and one unnamed Basque.

No members of the National Confederation of Labor were included in the new government, which presumably will replace that of General Jose Giral Pereira.

Composition of the new cabinet is regarded as showing a definite move toward the left by the Madrid government.

Since the outbreak of the revolution extreme leftist elements have struggled against their more conservative colleagues for control of Madrid.

Caballero for years has been a leader of the Socialist party. Its platform calls for socialization of production and confiscation of large estates of the landed gentry.

Personnel of the new cabinet was announced as follows: Premier—Largo Caballero. Foreign minister—Julio Alvarez Del Vayo.

'CHUTE JUMPER KILLED IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—A parachute jumper plunged to his death, his body striking the ground and bouncing high in the air before a grandstand of 20,000 persons when the wind caught his chute, as the National Air races opened here today.

The jumper, L. C. Faulkner, of Dallas, Tex., leaped from an airplane 2500 feet over Municipal airport and aimed at a circle painted on the air port floor in an "accuracy dive."

Fifty feet above ground a gust of wind whipped his parachute to one side, "spinning" the air out of it, and he tumbled to the earth. He died a few minutes later in the airport emergency hospital.

A second tragedy was narrowly averted when Harry Crosby, speed pilot, brushed with death in landing his racing plane at 100 miles an hour with the landing gear only half-opened.

The landing gear stuck while Crosby was testing his speedster above the airport at more than 300 miles an hour. He circled, tugging at the lever that operates the wheels, and once was on the verge of "bailing out," he said.

Crosby suffered a gash on one hand from the jolting landing with the plane's wheels bowed inward. His forehead also bore the imprint of the control board, Crosby having jammed his head against the instrument panel to brace for the expected crack-up. The plane was undamaged.

SPY SUSPECT ASKS AID OF JAPANESE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—John S. Farnsworth, former navy lieutenant commander facing trial on espionage charges, revealed today he has appealed to the Japanese government for aid in defending himself.

Farnsworth told reporters he had dispatched a letter about 10 days ago to the Japanese embassy here asking that the embassy attempt to secure affidavits from six individuals, all connected with the embassy at the present or in the past, swearing that these individuals had no dealings of an illegal nature with Farnsworth.

Mayor Rossi Leads Air Armada to L. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Mayor Angelo J. Rossi and dozens of other San Francisco and Bay region officials left today in a flight of 25 airplanes for the national air races at Los Angeles.

They will extend the invitation of the city to hold the 1937 races at some bay region airport.

KERSEY TO ACCEPT L. A. SCHOOL POST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—An early acceptance was expected today from Virgil Kersey, state superintendent of schools, as head of the Los Angeles school system.

The state superintendent previously had indicated he would accept the city position if it were offered to him. He will succeed Frank A. Bouelle, present superintendent, who recently asked to be relieved of the position.

The post carries a salary of $12,000 a year. A formal resolution offering the position to Kersey was voted by the board of education last night at a closed session and announced by President John F. Dalton.

Smuggler Commits Suicide On Ship

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Naffail Lotfelholz Brandstatter committed suicide today aboard the Ward liner Oriente as it steamed into New York harbor bringing him back from Cuba to face a narcotic charge in Los Angeles, Capt. O. Brandstatter radioed his office here.

Brandstatter was indicted by a Los Angeles federal grand jury on September 2 on a charge of alleged complicity in smuggling dope valued at $100,000 wholesale price from the Orient.

Federal operatives said the dope, had it reached commercial channels in this country, would have brought $500,000.

Nine Persons Injured In Four County Accidents

4 HURT WHEN TRAIN STRIKES CAR AT IRVINE

Nine persons, one of whom may die, were injured in four traffic mishaps on Orange county highways last night and today, according to reports filed today with police and hospital officials.

Four persons were injured, two seriously, when a car operated by Edward A. Forrester, 20, 824 East First, Santa Ana, was struck by a Santa Fe train at 12:30 a. m. today at the Irvine crossing. Forrester was out and bruised. George Kester, 22, 1001 West Camille, Santa Ana, suffered facial bone fractures and badly fractured left arm, while Miss Dorothy Wilson, 20, Tustin, received a fractured left wrist. All were taken to Santa Ana Valley hospital, where Kester still was confined today. Forrester said he was blinded by automobile headlights and did not see the train.

Robert Blanchard, 20, Route 2, Box 75, Orange, is unconscious at Orange county hospital today, following the crash of an automobile operated about 12:30 a. m. today on Seventeenth street near Bristol by his friend, Paul L. Sargent, 24, 469 South Orange, Orange. The car went out of control and struck a telephone pole and two walnut trees, according to investigation of Officers A. F. Moulton and L. C. Snodgrass. Sargent and a third man, A. W. Danielson, 22, Route 2, North Main street, Orange, who were treated at the county hospital, suffered cuts and bruises. Blanchard's condition today was reported as "fair." He is suffering possible skull fracture.

Andrew C. Pixon, 523 North Harwood street, Orange, was taken to St. Joseph hospital last night about 5:30, with his left leg fractured between hip and knee, after he lost control of his motorcycle on North Glassell street, Orange. Alfred Lopera, 1228 East Second, Santa Ana, was traveling in the 500-block of East Fourth at 8:30 o'clock last evening, riding his motorcycle, when it collided with a car operated by R. L. Haines, 25, Route 1, Box 39, Costa Mesa. Lopera received cut lip and pavement burns and was treated by a local doctor.

MARK BURIED CITY
PERRYTON, (UP)—A memorial service will be held at Ochiltree county's "Buried City," prehistoric cliff-dweller ruins that were legend even to the Plains Indians.

STRATHMAN TO DECLINE POST

Strathman, who declared "no one person should allow himself to be the cause of such a strike as threatens," has this to say in a statement:

"For over two and a half years the writer has done his utmost by cooperating with employers and employees to maintain industrial peace in the agricultural areas of Orange county. As an individual arbitrator, member of an arbitration board and as just a labor relations counselor I have had the satisfaction of successfully arbitrating several labor disputes and wage controversies. The writer was given the responsibility of deciding whether or not to establish the Orange county arbitration board and of being chiefly responsible for setting up that board after making the decision to establish it.

"During the first 14 months of my activities as a labor relations counselor in this county, wages of vegetable field workers were increased three times, those raised amounted to a 50 per cent increase, and they have been increased since then. I am proud to state that I recommended every one of those wage raises. I have also recommended wage increases to other agricultural employees and have had the pleasure of seeing those wages increased during these years.

"No individual credit is asked or deserved for these endeavors. The credit belongs to the growers of Orange county who were leaders in California extending themselves to understand the employees' viewpoint and to deal fairly with their employees, paying the highest wages that the income from their crops would allow, in fact very often paying wages that meant red ink rather than profit. Strathman said he was informed by the Mexican consulate office in Los Angeles that Lucio, as workers' representative, is not acting in any official capacity as a Mexican consular representative. Lucio previously stated he was representing Consul Ricardo Hill of Los Angeles.

Twin Girls Born To Mrs. Al Frazin

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Twin girls were born today to Mrs. Al Frazin, wife of Al Frazin, radio announcer for Madison Square Garden and many eastern sporting events. Mrs. Frazin before her marriage was Dorothy Jane Smith, of San Francisco, who had appeared in "Gay Paree" and "Show Girl."

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—There is a stronger rumor going around that Washington has sent out feelers to all the major powers to see whether they'd consider a conference to discuss the world's peace, economics, and armament reduction. "Well, why not? Those boys on the other side are always willing to talk about peace at any price, so long as Uncle Sam furnishes the price.

It is also said that a discussion of the tariff will be brought up at the meeting. "It all sounds so futile," Europe has never yet been able to raise its tariff walls high enough to keep out the enemy's bullets.

I don't know why it is, but ever since 1917 every administration has had a hankering to mess around in foreign entanglements. "Looks like they can't resist temptation to try and prove George Washington a liar.

Personally, I think we should confine our European endeavors to the Olympic games. The only prize our diplomats ever won in these international meets was for holding the bag.

HOLD INQUEST IN DEATH OF ROJAS

Inquest into the death of Pedro Rojas, 19, 601 Adams street, Delhi, Tuesday evening in Orange county hospital, after he assertedly was attacked with an iron bar Sunday night while attending a dance in Hynes, was scheduled for late today under direction of Deputy Coroner Bert Casteix.

Edward Hutchinson, 38, truck driver, Hynes, and Carthol Woodrow Neil, 23, service station operator, Hynes, who were arrested and charged with murder in connection with the alleged attack, were brought here by Los Angeles county sheriff's deputies to testify.

Hutchinson assertedly admitted he struck Rojas and Rojas' companion over the head with the bar "because they were trespassing on the service station property." According to Rojas' companion, John Martinez, 21, Orange, who was attacked, the pair was not trespassing at time of the attack.

RICHMAN, MERRILL LAND IN LONDON

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The Lady Peace, bearing Harry Richman and Dick Merrill, transatlantic fliers, arrived at Croydon airport from Bristol.

Crowds at the airport cheered as the transatlantic ship made a perfect landing at 7:55 a. m. CST. The demonstration, although hearty and enthusiastic, could not be compared with those given long-distance fliers in the last decade when such flights were historic.

Richman was besieged by newspapermen as soon as he had taxied his plane to a hangar and descended.

He said he was returning to the United States just as soon as winds were favorable. On his eastward voyage, the Lady Peace encountered adverse winds.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—The state board of prison terms and paroles at its last meeting here denied paroles to four convicted murderers, postponed action on two applications and granted one future parole, it was announced today.

Action of the parole application of Fred Lake, 56, of Imperial county, convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment on May 20, 1920, was postponed until December at Lake's request.

Insurance Firm Sued On Policy

Charging that the Alliance Mutual Life Insurance company had refused to pay a $1000 policy carried on the life of her husband, Abram Miller, who died in Missouri last February 21, Mabel Miller today brought suit in superior court here against the insurance company, asking judgment for $1350.

Besides the face of the policy, she demanded $100 damages for "vexing and harassing" her, and $250 as attorney fees, alleging that such items are provided under the state law of Missouri, where the insurance policy was sold.

FDR In Tribute To Mark Twain

HANNIBAL, Mo., Sept. 4.—(UP)—President Roosevelt paid a simple tribute to the memory of Mark Twain today as he stood on the banks of the sluggish Mississippi here and dedicated a bridge named in honor of one of America's foremost men of letters.

Recalling that as a boy he had "the happy privilege of shaking hands with him," Mr. Roosevelt observed "Mark Twain and his tales still live, though the years have passed and time has wrought its change on the Mississippi."

HOLD SUSPECT IN S. D. MURDER

said the man cried as he was taken into custody:

"Why hold an inquest! It was murder!"

Return Open Verdict

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Miss Muir came to her death from multiple skull fractures, "inflicted by an unknown instrument in the hands of some person or persons unknown."

Facts already disclosed in the case were reviewed. Joseph Muir, San Antonio banker and father of the slain Y. W. C. A. executive, was the first witness. He was followed by County Autopsy Surgeon F. E. Toomey, who said the murder had been committed by a "very strong person," unidentifiable either as a man or a woman.

Detective Ed Dieckmann described in detail a heavy, short blood-stained wooden club which is under consideration as the death weapon. The 14-inch pine board was found a few feet from the place Miss Muir's mutilated body was discovered.

Scientific tests have established hairs found under Miss Muir's fingernails were her own.

It was learned last night a woman was being sought for questioning regarding the fatal beating and degenerate mutilation of the wealthy San Antonio, Tex., banker's daughter, but the search, according to detective, still centered about the hunt for a male sex-friend.

A man who police said, "knows plenty" about the Muir case, was to be brought here for questioning from Tijuana, Mex., where he was taken into custody last night.

He was identified as Sam Isaac, 35, after Mexican police took him into custody, they informed San Diego authorities who hurried to the border town to question him. The officers would not disclose what Isaac knew about Miss Muir's death.

Surgeon Blames Woman
County Autopsy Surgeon F. E. Toomey, one of the first to declare he considered it a strong possibility a woman attacked Miss Muir as she sat watching the moon and stars and listened to the roar of the surf, was expected to introduce his views officially.

Toomey has said the numerous blows struck Miss Muir, as well as the evidence of a protracted struggle shown by trampled shrubbery at the death scene, were characteristic of a woman killer rather than a man, who he said probably would have killed the woman with one or two heavy blows.

A club which officers think may prove to be the death weapon was found in the cove, hidden by shrubbery, last night.

RELEASE MAN FOUND WEARING WOMAN'S GARB

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Joseph V. Smith, six-foot former marine, was cleared by tests of his hair today of possible connection with the sex murder of Ruth Muir at La Jolla.

Smith, taken into custody wearing women's attire, according to police, was booked on suspicion of a morals offense, while samples of his own dark hair and of a reddish wig he wore were sent to Prof. J. D. Laudermilk, Pomona college scientist.

Police announced the scientist found the hair did not resemble hair found under Miss Muir's fingernails. As a result, police announced he would be held on a charge of masquerading in female attire.

Smith is 6 feet one inch tall, and weighs 185 pounds. He has classic features, dimpled chin, and he talks with a pronounced lisp, police said.

His unusually big hands and feet gave him a queer appearance in woman's clothes, police said, added to the fact that a heavy growth of dark hair on his back and shoulders peeped out over the neck of the blouse.

POPE PIUS URGES PRAYER FOR SPAIN

ROME, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Pope Pius urged a "great crusade of prayer" for the church and mankind, particularly for strife-torn Spain.

The holy father urged the appeal for divine guidance in addressing 600 Italian Franciscan fathers whom he received today.

"We must pray for Spain," he said, "where brothers are killing brothers and where a carnage of souls is occurring amongst sacrilegious and horrible massacres."

His holiness said this crusade of prayer would represent "a tremendous promise for a better future amidst so many evils which are afflicting the church and the entire world."

LONDON AVIATRIX HOPS FOR AMERICA

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Mrs. Beryl Markham, 31-year-old London society woman took off from Abingdon airrome, Berkshire, at 6:50 p. m. today (1:50 p. m. e.d.t.) on a transatlantic flight to New York.

drawing nearly three-quarters of his strength so far from his own party supporters in the 1932 election.

An analysis of the vote for Lemke shows that in these early returns he is getting four votes from former Roosevelt voters to one from erstwhile Hoover supporters.

About 4 per cent of the poll participants signify they did not vote four years ago and another 4 per cent fail to indicate whether or not they voted.

"Once again The Literary Digest is making a county-wide test of political sentiment to find the answer to a national question," the current issue of the magazine states. "Who will win—Roosevelt or Landon?"

Check More States
"Next week more states will join the parade, and there will be thousands of additional votes. Ballots are pouring out by tens of thousands and will continue to flood the country for several weeks. They are pouring back, too, in an ever-increasing stream."

U. S. "Reluctant"

The United States, in full recognition of these facts, voiced its "reluctance" to follow Britain's lead in taking advantage of the "escalator clause" of the London treaty when Britain first gave notice of her intention last June. This clause gives any signatory power the right to increase its naval strength in any particular category whenever it fears its national defense is threatened. The treaty provides, however, that the power so invoking the escalator clause must notify the other signatories.

Japan now has more under-sea submarines than either the United States or Great Britain, although the United States has a margin of superiority in total submarine strength. As of July 1, the total submarine strength of the three powers was as follows:

	Tonnage
United States	75,000
Great Britain	55,000
Japan	73,000
The relative strength in under-sea submarines:
United States	47,000
Great Britain	47,000
Japan	61,000
Submarine tonnage under construction or appropriated for by the powers:
United States	25,000
Great Britain	12,000
Japan	10,000

LEASE SIGNED FOR NEW CHP OFFICES

A five-year lease on a building located at 3005 North Main street, to be converted into headquarters for the Orange county branch of the California Highway Patrol was signed today by Ray Ingels, head of the state motor vehicle department. The owner of the property, Fred May, announced that already work on reconstruction has been started.

This morning, Building Inspector Frank Dale, Orange, issued a permit for the necessary alterations and improvements, which, according to May, will cost approximately $1500. The site was acquired through the efforts of Assemblyman James B. Utt, who has been in constant touch with Sacramento authorities in relation to obtaining new quarters for the local highway patrol.

The new location is considered one of the best available, Utt said today in commenting on the new location. The large stucco building provides 2500 square feet of floor space. Ample parking space is available adjacent to the building.

LANDON LEADS IN VOTE POLL

giving Landon 5,931 and Roosevelt 2,724.

"Pennsylvania, traditionally Republican but marked out as another great battleground this year, makes its bow with 5,634 votes for Landon and 2,778 for Roosevelt."

Check Four States
"In all, these four states are represented with 16,056 ballots for Landon, 7,845 for Roosevelt and 754 for Lemke. But it must be repeated that these figures are only the first lot of the hundreds of thousands to be received."

"Furthermore, none of these ballots came from any of the great metropolitan areas where President Roosevelt's strength is claimed by so many political observers to be greatest.

"So, it may be said that if Landon's adherents feel elated, Roosevelt supporters need not feel depressed. Next week's figures may show an entirely different result, and there may be many switches thereafter."

Look For Switches
"What the political dopes will look for in this first tabulation, and those to come, are the switches from 1932."

"In Maine, the barometer state, Landon gets 246 who voted for Roosevelt in 1932, as compared with 85 who then voted Republican and now favor Roosevelt.

"In New Jersey, Landon gets 407 who were Democratic in 1932. While Roosevelt takes over 304 Republican voters.

"In New York, Landon gets 1146 Democratic votes, while 509 who voted Republican in 1932 switch to the President.

"In Pennsylvania 915 Democrats vote for Landon and 509 Republicans for Roosevelt.

"But those who have their eye on switches probably will turn first to the vote for Representative William Lemke, nominee of the Union Party—the Third Party 'threat.' His total vote today is tiny, indeed; only 754, or slightly more than 3 per cent of the total of 24,689 shown in the table."

Individual ballots have been mailed to voters of Santa Ana and nearby communities in the Literary Digest poll and should be distributed by the Post Office within a few days, according to advice received today from the magazine's publishers.

SEAMAN TELLS SLAYING PLOT

That night, Warren continued quoting Connor, Alberts got off the ship, delaying the plans of the group. The next day, Connor was aboard ship when Wallace and Sachowitz came on.

"They said, 'where is he?' and I pointed to his cabin. I figured they were only going to beat him up and that I wanted no part of rough stuff. So I went below."

"When I came up a little while later I heard that Alberts had been killed. That's all I know."

Complete Case
The confession, Warren said, "just about rounds out" the state's case in the "10 murder." In his asserted confession, Wallace said he was paid $10 as a down payment for his services in the slaying, and named King as the key man in the plot.

As a result of Connor's statements, Ralph Hoyt, chief assistant district attorney, said the search for Sachowitz had been intensified.

Meanwhile, the state bureau of identification at Sacramento informed Warren that both Wallace and Ramsey have police records. According to these records, Ramsey was arrested twice in Oakland in 1931 on prohibition violation charges and was jailed in Marysville the same year for safekeeping.

The bureau reported Wallace was arrested in New York in 1929 on assault to rob charges; in Claremont, Cal., and Fort Morgan, Cal., in 1932 for investigation; in Los Angeles in 1934 for assault during the maritime strike and at Doris, Cal., in March, 1936, during the Los Angeles "bum blockade."

MILK INCREASE EFFECTIVE ON SEPTEMBER 6

When Orange county housewives go out to get their milk Sunday morning, or send their huddies to the market for milk, they will find that the price per quart has advanced one cent.

C. H. Christie, secretary-manager of the Orange County Milk Producers, Inc., and Orange County Dairyman's association, today announced that the increases expected this week will go into effect Sunday morning.

The new prices per quart will be 12 cents across the counter and 13 cents delivered to your door, one cent higher than before. Prices also will advance on pints of milk, which will sell at nine cents delivered.

Other Products Up
Other milk products which will increase in price include coffee cream, which will sell at 15 cents a half pint and 50 cents a quart, all-purpose cream, 18 and 60 cents per half-pint and quart; cottage cheese, up one cent; chocolate drink, up one cent; whipping cream, 25 cents a half pint and 75 cents a quart, and buttermilk, up to 12 cents from 11 cents a quart.

Announcement of the increase today followed a meeting last night, when the situation was discussed. Prices were advanced this week in Los Angeles and Orange county is part of the Los Angeles milk shed. The price increase is the first in Orange county since October of 1934. Attention was called to the fact that the price of cattle feed has mounted rapidly, and labor costs also have increased, making it necessary to advance the price of household milk.

Farmers Aided
Attention was called to the fact that a rise in the per pound value of butterfat from 52 cents July 24 to 69 cents this week influenced the increase. Farmers are benefitting by the advancing prices, their prices on butterfat mounting by 32 per cent since July 24, while cost to consumers has amounted to but eight per cent.

"Milk has gone up," Christie said today in announcing the increase, "but at that milk is one of our best and cheapest foods. There is no waste in your quart bottle of milk. If it turns sour it can be used for pancakes or soda biscuits instead of throwing it away. A quart of milk is a full

FOUR STRIKE RIOTERS GET JAIL TERMS AFTER REFUSING TO RETURN TO NATIVE LAND

Foreigners who come to this country and live here for many years without enough interest to learn the language or apply for citizenship, but who try to tell Americans how to run the country, and violate the law, are "undesirables," Superior Judge James L. Allen declared today in sentencing four Mexican strike rioters to terms of 10 months in the county jail, after all had refused the opportunity of returning to Mexico at government expense.

The jail sentences and the court's statement were given in connection with the granting of probation for a three-year period, and they elicited a warm protest from Attorney David Marcus, counsel for Mexican Consul Ricardo Hill, and personal representative of Adolfo de la Huerta, former president of Mexico.

Marcus, however, was unable to convince the court that the four defendants, who had prosecution until convicted, should go scot free for their offense.

"Their attitude doesn't set well with the court," Judge Allen remarked. Marcus pleaded that the strikers had actually been led into the rioting by "American citizens," evidently referring to strike agitators, but the court could see no reason in that excuse for granting their plea.

FREMONT, O.—(UP)—A little light flashed off and on in John Powers' attic. Neighbors became alarmed and notified Ohio Power company to investigate. Electricians found a firefly caught in a cobweb.

Local Briefs

Vacationing at his beach cottage in Corona Del Mar, Superior Judge Frank G. Swain of Los Angeles, yesterday paid an informal visit to the offices of Judge Kenneth Morrison of Santa Ana justice court. The judges met when Judge Swain was justice of the peace at Whittier, where he lives, during a conference of justices.

intended to return to Mexico.

"How about returning now," the court suggested to them, in turn. But none was yet ready.

It was then that the uneasy Marcus protested, anticipating that the Mexicans were to receive a choice of leaving the country or going to jail. Judge Allen grimly admitted that was his position.

"They come here and live for years without taking any interest in this government," he said. "They do not want to obey the laws, but they do try to tell Americans how to run the country. They came here, presumably, to better themselves. If they weren't satisfied with working conditions here, why didn't they go back to their own country."

Other Foreigners Praised
"I have found," he continued, "that of all foreigners in the United States the greatest load we are carrying are the Mexicans. You don't see Chinese or Japanese or Greeks on our relief rolls. They make their own living."

Judge Allen added that if an American went to Mexico and tried to do what these defendants did here, he would get short shrift.

"I know," said the judge, "because I was in Mexico once, and, though I didn't even break the law, I was placed in a much more serious situation than these defendants."

Not Being Deported
"I'm not deporting them," Judge Allen responded. "I'm only giving them the opportunity to go if they wish."

At Marcus's reference to the strike agitators, the court responded that it was the duty of Consul Hill to instruct his nationals that they shouldn't follow agitators. Marcus replied that "that is just what we have been doing. We have even got our neck in the noose for doing it. The court will hear more of that later."

After the probation order had been made, Marcus asked that a copy of the court proceedings be prepared for him. His purpose was not made known, since there is no appeal from the probation order, as there would be if probation was denied and judgment had been pronounced.

Takes Meat From Home To Give Dog

The 12-year-old boy who admitted he entered the home of Mrs. Annie Stuart, 1023 West Second street, took steaks from the ice box to feed his dog, and then secured an egg from home to hurl upon the Stuart back porch, is sorry now.

Investigation by Officer Ed Lentz determined the lad's identity; the lad's father said he would replace the steaks eaten by the family dog and would give "instructions" to his son regarding the inelegancy of scrambling eggs against rear porches. The lad was not arrested.

NAME COMMITTEE ON GAS TAX FUND

FULLERTON, Sept. 4.—A joint committee composed of the tax group, Felix Stein chairman, and the legislative, R. S. Gregory chairman, was appointed to make a special study of the initiative measure to be on the ballot this fall at election providing for protection of all state gas funds for use on highways when the directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce met at noon Thursday. This action followed a discussion of this measure by Robert Seamans, head of the Fullerton office of the Automobile club of Southern California, who urged support. R. S. Gregory of the legislative committee suggested that it might be presumptuous to tie up funds so rigidly that they could not be reached even for emergency.

CELEBRATION OF MEXICANS HELD ON SEPT. 15, 16

Honoring D. Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, father of Mexican independence, Santa Ana will stage a two-day celebration on September 15 and 16 in observance of Mexican independence day, it was announced today by Sol Gonzalez, Santa Ana merchant, and Enrique Laurent, Spanish radio announcer. Frances E. Willard Junior High school auditorium will be the scene of the celebration on the evening of September 15, while a program will be held the following afternoon in Birch park. On September 15, 1810, Costilla supplied the torch that set off the fireworks which led to the Mexican revolt against Spain and the ultimate freedom. Prior to the uprising Spain had ruled Mexico with an iron hand for three centuries. Costilla was born of fairly rich parents and was educated in Mexican missions. Mexico still observes September 15 as a national holiday in memory of the day when Costilla with a few eloquent words urged the Mexicans to revolt.

ARRESTS BY SANTA ANA POLICE DURING AUGUST SHOW INCREASE

Activities of city police were on the increase last month as 576 persons were arrested, according to compilation of figures by Desk Sergeant B. F. Lutz today. Sergeant Lutz will submit the report to city council, on orders of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard. As compared with 576 arrests last month, but 381 were arrested in July, 1936, while 527 were arrested in August, 1935.

During August, 1936, 448 calls were answered by the officers and 345 car calls by radio were made; $3460 was the value of loot stolen, the record shows, while $1515 of it was recovered. Four automobiles were stolen, three recovered; eight bicycles were stolen, six recovered.

Other figures show two persons were arrested during August, 1936, for bookmaking; 7 for battery; 6, burglary; 65, drunk; 256, violation California vehicle code; 204, violation city traffic ordinance; 9, drunk driving; 1, statutory offense; 7, vagrancy; 3, disturbing the peace; 1, grand theft auto; 2, city dog license ordinance violation; 4, juveniles for running away from home; 1, defrauding innkeeper.

In July, 1936, the record shows 450 calls answered; 278, car calls by radio; $806 valuation of loot stolen, $248 recovered; 1 car stolen, 1 recovered; 6 bicycles stolen, 1 recovered. Arrests: 50, drunk; 2, assault; 1, assault with deadly weapon; 1, statutory offense; 3, petty theft; 0, burglary; 4, disturbing peace; 4, bench warrants; 95, vehicle code; 135, city traffic ordinance; 9, drunk driving; 2, vagrancy; 2, contributing to delinquency of minor.

In August, 1935, 508 calls were answered; 302 car calls by radio; property stolen was valued at $2268, with $4843 recovered; 12 automobiles were stolen, with 12 recovered; 9 bicycles were stolen, with 4 recovered.

Arrests for August, 1935, include: 9, assault; 22, bench warrant; 5, burglary; 3, carrying concealed weapons; 1, fictitious checks; 67, drunk; 5, disturbing peace; 3, petty theft; 3, robbery; 10, vagrancy; 5, grand theft auto; 94, vehicle code violation; 282, city ordinance violation.

ROTARIANS HEAR FORUM PLAN TALK

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Questions which affect the people of America, have been selected for 40-minute talks to be followed by 40-minute discussions from the floor, at forums to be held throughout the county, according to Homer E. Chaney, director of the federal forum for Orange county who gave an outline of plans for the forums at a meeting of the Rotary club yesterday noon at the American Legion clubhouse. Forums are to be held in Orange from September 16 to February 1, every Wednesday night at the Orange Union high school, Chaney stated. A meeting of the committee with A. Haven Smith as chairman, and others on the committee, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. Donald Smiley, Arthur T. Hobson, W. S. Lentz, Dr. Robert Burns McAulay and Martell Thompson, was held yesterday morning. Judge Frank C. Drumm of Santa Ana, was program chairman and H. D. Nichols presided.

PLANT SHIPS ONE MILLION POUNDS NUTS

With work of handling the 1936 walnut crop to begin in about two weeks time, the Rosenberg Brothers and company walnut house in Orange closed this week with a total output the past year of 550 tons or 1,100,000 pounds of cracked walnut meats, according to Joe Handelman, manager. Thirty or 40 tons of nuts in the shell were handled and 500 tons of the nuts cracked were purchased from the control board. The nuts were from the 1935 crop. The plant furnished work for a large number of women last fall and this summer, a part of the time two shifts being used. Walnuts processed at the plant come from Ventura county on the north to San Diego county on the south.

WILLIS J. NEWSOM FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for Willis J. Newsom, 54, who died yesterday at his home in Garden Grove, will be held from the Smith and Tut-till mortuary tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at the Loma Vista cemetery, Fullerton.

Mr. Newsom, who had lived in California for 50 years, 46 of these as a resident of Garden Grove, was instructor in the department of agriculture at Jacob Rills school in Los Angeles. Mr. Newsom died after an illness of one month's duration.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gladys W. Newsom, two daughters, Mrs. Curtis A. Ferris and Miss Gerry Newsom, of Garden Grove; and one son, Willis R. Newsom, and brother, Harvey Newsom, of Garden Grove. Other relatives are B. W. Newsom, of Long Beach; R. L. and Joseph Allen Newsom, of Stanton; W. C. TAKE PART IN POMONA FAIR

PLACENTIA, Sept. 4.—Several members of Grace Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will enter the Pioneer Day celebration September 20 at the Pomona fair in a stage coach that ran on the Butterfield trail from Julian to Tucson. The owner was Ira Leek.

Arrangements were made for this at a regular meeting of the members of the parlor last night at the Placentia Round Table clubhouse. Mrs. John Wagner was appointed chairman of the committee on this entry, and serving with her are Mrs. Thomas L. McFadden and Mrs. Arthur L. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hansen of San Juan Capistrano are in charge of this historic coach at the present time.

Other business last night included arranging for future meetings. Mrs. Frank Hill presided. The Sewing club, meeting to sew for the Parlor Homeless children society work, will meet with Mrs. Hill September 14 at her home on East Orangethorpe. It will be an all day meeting with a potluck luncheon at noon.

Invitations were read urging Grace parlor members to meet with Ontario parlor September 10, and with Los Angeles parlor September 23. Grace parlor and Long Beach parlor are to hold a joint meeting at Placentia in November.

Mrs. Alice Davis was appointed as press chairman filling the place of Mrs. Ruth Richardson, formerly of Fullerton. Mrs. Richardson has moved to Riverside.

"Every minute- of every day- somebody buys a General Electric Refrigerator!"

The new General Electric Refrigerator uses less electricity than any other make. Ask us for test records that prove it.

General Electric's low operating cost was proved right here in Southern California by a large number of 30-day tests in the homes of G-E Refrigerator owners. These General Electrics were tested under actual kitchen conditions, full of food, serving their owners—not under made-to-order tests. Let us show you these tests.

General Electric gives you 5 years protection on the sealed-in-steel mechanism, and a G-E Refrigerator is still young after 5 years of use.

Beautiful cabinets, and every worth while convenience feature are part of General Electric's sterling quality. General Electric is the leader always, in all ways.

ORVAL LYON OPERATING MODERN SERVICE STATION

Particularly pleased with the reception shown the entrance of a new business into Santa Ana, Orval Lyon, pioneer tire and battery expert, today expressed his appreciation to the public. His new, completely equipped station, which has been in operation for just one week, is located at the corner of First and Cypress street.

Lyon, shown in the insert at the left of the picture depicting his modern station, has working with him two young men, highly experienced in the tire business. They are Palmer Stoddard, upper right, and Harry Allen. Since the opening, Lyon's Tire service has been featuring special sales on tires, batteries, auto radios, auto accessories and low prices on lubrication. The special features will be continued for a short time.

Those present, other than Mrs. Wilson, were Mesdames B. J. McReynolds, Glenn S. Warner, Gilbert Martien, J. A. Prescott, Porter G. Luther, George Veeh and J. H. Pankey.

GRAND MASTER OF MASONS TO VISIT LODGES HERE SEPT. 10

Members of the Masonic fraternity in Orange county are looking forward with interest to Thursday evening of next week when Earl Warren, Grand Master of Masons in California, will pay Santa Ana and Orange county an official visit. This will be the first time Santa Ana has entertained the state head of the Masonic fraternity in several years and a large gathering of lodge men from all over the county and from outside points is expected.

Jubilee lodge of Santa Ana will act as host for the evening and about 450.

Accompanying Grand Master Warren will be Rollie W. Miller, of Los Angeles, deputy grand master; Leon O. Whitteall, of Orange, junior warden of the grand lodge of California; Sidney K. Lehman, deputy grand lecturer, and probably several other members of the grand lodge of California.

INSTALLATION IS CONDUCTED BY EL CAMINO TOASTMASTERS

W. H. "Ted" Blanding was made president of El Camino Toastmasters club at the Green Cat cafe last night, when Ralph Smedley, "father of the Toastmasters clubs", inducted the new administration into office with an outline of duties and responsibilities. Other officers are Dr. Merrill W. Hollingsworth, vice president; T. D. "Ted" MacBird, secretary; William Gray, treasurer, and Malcolm Macnada, former president, as sergeant-at-arms.

Outgoing officers were Ernest S. Wooster, Carl Sanborn, Blanding, who was secretary last term; Paul Roberts and Lloyd Banks.

Wooster, toastmaster of the evening, introduced speakers who selected subjects from a list submitted to them, speaking with only a few minutes preparation. Roy Coleman had as his subject, "If I Were President of the United States," in which he outlined problems which are met before and after election. Carl Sanborn told of banking procedure, dwelling particularly on banking practice in handling checks.

Paul Roberts explained what he would do if he were a jobless stranger in a community to establish himself. Nolan Doss let his imagination roam over the field of possibilities open to a person who suddenly inherited a million dollars. Ernest H. Layton handled his subject facetiously when he told what he would do if he were a banker.

Critics were selected to criticize phases of the talks of all. Macnada gave his opinion of the opening statement of each; Hollingsworth gave an exhaustive criticism of gestures and posture and voice inflection; E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist analyzed the organization of gestures for improvement. William Gray was general critic. Harry LeBard, formerly of Smedley club No. 1, became a member of El Camino club.

Postal Receipts Show Increases

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 4.—Postal receipts at the Garden Grove postoffice for the month of August amounted to $762.54 showing a gain of $51.82 over the same month of 1935 when sales amounted to $710.67. Postmaster Clair Head reports U. S. Savings Bonds sold during the past month amounted to $6309 and the gain of postal savings in August was $1090.

BUENA PARK HOME SCENE OF PARTY

BUENA PARK, Sept. 4.—Complimenting Mrs. Cecil Rhodes, Mrs. Rolland Upton and Miss Violet Watson were co-hostesses entertaining this afternoon with a shower at the home of the latter on West Tenth street.

Following a variety of games for which novelty prizes were awarded, guests spent the remainder of the afternoon applying a sun bonnet girl quilt for the honoree.

Early fall flowers were used in decorating. The hostesses served a dessert course of sandwiches, cookies and tea.

Others present were Mrs. Joe Rhodes, Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, Mrs. LaRue C. Watson, Mrs. Vernon Crisswell, Mrs. Charles Hillman, Mrs. Justin Spohn, Mrs. James Swain, Mrs. Clarence Henderson, Mrs. Victor Moffet, Mrs. Harold Redelberger, and Mrs. Lester Schorfield.

VIATRIX HERE N INTERESTS IF AIR EVENTS

Today marks the opening of the thirteenth annual air classic, the 128 National Air Races, in Los Angeles, but yesterday was "Ruth Elder Day" in Santa Ana as the famous air record smasher appeared at the city hall in the afternoon to extend an official invitation to Santa Anans to attend the events, today, tomorrow, Sunday and Labor Day.

After four days of traveling in a three-car National Air Race motorcade to many cities of Southern California, as far north as Santa Barbara, and after visiting Burbank, Glendale, Alhambra, Monterey Park, Whittier, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana yesterday, the charming Miss Elder facetiously volunteered to join the "Society of Knock-Knocks" as she closed her little talk over the portable loud speaker system which she and air race officials brought with her.

"Anaheim so tired now, I'm not sure whether I'll be able to get back to Los Angeles today," she "knocked-knocked!" She had just arrived from Anaheim.

At City Hall

The three-car motorcade arrived at the city hall with a motorcycle escort, including Santa Ana's own officers, Ed Lentz and William Nielsen, as pre-arranged at a meeting of the city council.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland was on hand to welcome the group and to accept their official invitation to the "sky party," as presented by Miss Elder and Miss Shirley Hill, the latter being official hostess for this year's air races. Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink represented Police Chief Floyd W. Howard at the "invitation and welcome" party.

Miss Elder stated, before she left for Laguna Beach with the party, that she would not enter the air race competition this year but would be content to sit on the sidelines and cheer.

From here, the party was escorted to Santa Ana's south city limits by the local officers and Los Angeles officers. The four-day invitational tour concluded late yesterday, after visits to Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Balboa and Huntington Beach.

Aid Group Plans All-Day Meeting

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 4.—The Wintersburg Ladies Aid Society held its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the local church hall and following a business session which was presided over by Mrs. Lucille Young, an informal program was enjoyed, members who had been away on summer vacations telling of their trips.

A luncheon and all-day meeting was planned for the October meeting of the society which will be on October 7 at the church hall. A program will be presented at the afternoon and the regular business meeting held at that time.

Col. Ayres Says Good Times Will Eclipse Election

Perhaps the most amazing political development of the past few weeks is the fact that people are beginning to forget about politics. Business conditions are improving at such an encouraging rate that daily reports of industrial gains are crowding political developments off the front pages.

The note of optimism is national. The fact is that the American people have regained their confidence. Business men are planning for plant expansions and increased sales. Record crowds are attending sporting events. Summer tourist travel on the oceans and in certain national parks has exceeded even the peak of 1929.

This pleasing and healthy swing in public attitude is perhaps best reflected and interpreted by Col. Leonard P. Ayres, economist of the Cleveland Trust Company, who has become nationally known by his analyses of economic changes and conditions. Col. Ayres has been called into consultation by Gov. Landon and is looked upon as a trusted adviser of the Republican nominee.

Reporting a recent interview with Col. Ayres, a correspondent for the Wall Street Journal said:

"Col. Ayres expects the business indices to continue to make a favorable showing the rest of this year in spite of the political campaigns and predicts that business will be 'good' next year no matter who obtains a new four-year lease on the White House.

"He commented at some length on the absence of a Summer slump in 1936 and said: 'I don't think you will be able to see the election when the statistical charts for the next few months are completed.'"

FARMERS HAPPY TOO

Col. Ayres' prediction that business improvement would overshadow political developments is proving true in convincing fashion.

Recent reports from Washington disclosed that the July farm income was $735,000,000, or the highest since 1929. That fact means that the farmers, along with the workers, are going to benefit from improved conditions.

One of the overshadowing causes of the great depression was the fact that three successive Republican administrations failed in their promises to rescue American agriculture from ruinous prices. At first that condition injured only the growers; finally the loss of buying power reflected itself in industrial centers and the depression was the result.

WILL ROGERS KNEW

The late beloved Will Rogers was the most successful in bringing home in vivid fashion the unhappy state of the farmers in the depression. On Aug. 23, 1931, he wrote one of his news pieces under the caption: "Takes twenty bushels of wheat to buy one pair of shoes."

"Need a haircut but I forgot to bring a bushel and a half of wheat with me. A shave is a bushel of oats. 'Here, Rastus, is a bushel of oats; give me a shine.'

"Two hundred bushels of wheat will get you one set of new harness to start raising some more high-priced wheat. A new work team will cost you 600 bushels. A bushel of oats will get you three packs of chewing gum."

Fortunately those days for the farmers are behind us. The whole country realizes that better days are here except Col. Knox. Some one should tell him the facts.

Chaney Speaker At Lions Meet

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 4.—Homer Chaney of the Federal Forum, was introduced as guest speaker by Lester Frink at the meeting of the Garden Grove Lions club in Blue Bird cafe Wednesday.

He gave an interesting talk on present conditions, chiefly on the economic and banking problems. He also gave the reason why Orange county was picked for this Federal Forum project, stating Orange county is the only county in the United States considered as a capitalist agricultural county, Orange county was of 10 chosen in the United States.

Guests introduced by Ray Johnson were Bill Smith, of Santa Ana; M. E. Beebe, of Anaheim, Floyd Andres and Cleve Johnson of Garden Grove.

Hopkins Uses WPA Money To Get F. D. R. Votes

"The 'Works Progress Administration' is no longer entitled to the initials WPA. It should adopt a different set. RPM—Roosevelt Political Machine—would be more appropriate.

As long ago as the first of March President Roosevelt's manager of the WPA, Mr. Harry L. Hopkins, began organizing his forces to spread New Deal propaganda at public expense. In every state in the Union the WPA has set up propaganda machinery in charge of people who are paid out of the national treasury.

They are supposed to be employed on public works projects, but in a confidential memorandum—marked "Not for release," Works Progress Administrator Hopkins has instructed each state administrator to make use of his best facilities for distributing New Deal propaganda.

If he needs writers to fix up radio speeches and skits favorable to the New Deal he is directed to take them from other work they may be doing. Or if the state or regional administrator finds that he needs better writers than he can cull from among the WPA workers, he is authorized to hire people to create Mr. Roosevelt's propaganda material.

"Get to the Newspapers"

"If no one competent to do the work well can be found in WPA employ," says the confidential memorandum, "it would be better to seek outside assistance. . . . At least one capable newspaper man, preferably one who has had extensive managerial editorial experience and preferably one who has worked in the state WPA headquarters city and KNOWS THE PERSONNEL OF THE NEWSPAPERS AND PRESS ASSOCIATIONS should be in every State Information Service. If it is not advisable for administrative reasons or because of his lack of the right temperament for leadership, he should have such rank and salary as will enable him to meet editors and reporters on equal terms."

Remember that YOU are being taxed to pay for this work, which is going on in every State, to manufacture Roosevelt sentiment. NOBODY CAN BE SO GUILTYLESS AS TO BELIEVE IT IS NOT SANCTIONED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, IF NOT DIRECTLY ORDERED BY HIM!

More Big "Public Works"

But that is only a part of the WPA organization project. State and sectional WPA administrators are authorized to hire cartoonists, to have posters prepared, to obtain displays in hotels, theaters, store windows and at fairs. ALL EXPENSES FOR SUCH WORK TO BE PAID OUT OF THE WPA FUNDS COLLECTED FROM TAXPAYERS.

Don't get the idea that the organized propaganda which is being carried on under the guise of a WPA project stops there. The confidential memorandum issued by Boondoggler Hopkins tells his staff of administrators in all the States to have speakers trained and coached for making addresses over the radio.

"If possible," says the memorandum, "Works Progress speakers, especially radio speakers, should be persons who have had some training in delivery, voice modulation, etc. . . ."

The WPA is supposed to be providing employment for them with women at the controls, raced westward today from New York to Los Angeles for the $15,000 Bendix prize. A seventh plane was eliminated when it exploded and burned.

BLAST WRECKS RACING PLANE

Five of the planes refueled in the midwest and took to the air again on the long dash to the coast. Miss Laura Ingalls, last to take off in New York, had not been reported and it was possible she intended to fly non-stop.

Mrs. Louise Thaden, Wichita, accompanied by Blanche Noyes of Los Angeles, refueled at Wichita and took off at 11:24 C.S.T. She was the last to refuel.

Miss Amelia Earhart and her companion, Miss Helen Ritchie of Pittsburgh, refueled at Kansas City and reported a faulty overhead hatch had cost them at least 40 minutes. The hatch, an emergency exit, was wired down here and no further trouble was expected from it.

"The hatch blew open shortly after we left New York," Miss Earhart said. "I thought we were going to be blown out of our seats for a moment. Helen managed to pull it down and we finally got it tied down with a length of rag. It didn't give us any more trouble but we lost a good deal of time fighting with it."

Miss Earhart said she didn't expect to win the race and predicted Benny Howard of Chicago, last year's winner, would repeat his victory.

"I can't compete with those racing planes with this ship," she said. Howard and his wife, Maxine, flying "Mr. Mulligan," a plane of his own design and called after his nickname for Mrs. Howard, refueled without bothering to shut off the engine. He reported no trouble and was optimistic about his chances. His takeoff was wobbly because of the gas load but he got the racer into the air on the first try.

William "Buster" Warner, piloting an 8-passenger plane, made his second stop at Albuquerque, N. M., at 10:30 M.S.T. He and his three companions took off eight minutes later on the final hop to Los Angeles.

Warner had stopped earlier at Wichita, where he bogged down when the big plane was brought to a stop on soggy ground.

George Pomeroy and Louis Brewer, flying a Douglas DC2, had not been heard from since they refueled at St. Louis.

NATIONAL AIR RACES OPEN

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Explosion of an aerial bomb and the arrival of two flying caravans from east and south opened the sixteenth annual national air races at Municipal airport today.

An hour after noon ships of the Ruth Chatterton derby were slated to start dropping out of the sky to signalize start of aviation's four-day $10,000,000 circus of speed and thrills.

Led by Frank Speckels, Santa Francisco sugar heir who won the Cleveland-San Diego race when the finish line was crossed late yesterday, the derby flyers may be beaten to the wire here by the winner of the Bendix trophy race, humming across the continent from New York. The derby caravan was ordered to leave San Diego shortly after noon, the approximate time the bulk of the Bendix finishers are expected to flash across the field.

Shortly after dawn, the sky began filling with planes, hurtling about box-like pylons to get the "feel" of the five, ten and 15-mile courses over which the speed events will be run, the first qualifying speed dashes were set for 8 a. m., with a minimum speed ranging from 100 miles per hour upward required for survivors.

These preliminaries will be followed by the arrival of military squadrons or pursuit ships from March field under command of Lieut. Col. Carlyle Walsh; 13 speedy Northrup attack planes from Barksdale field, La., under Capt. C. D. Pearce; 18 stubby Gruman fighters from the San Diego naval base under Lieut. Comdr. C. D. Glover, and 18 Chance Bouch Corsairs from the San Diego Marine Corps fleet led by Capt. T. J. Bushman.

A bomb dropped from midair will herald the arrival of the first squadron. All will participate in team maneuvers later in the day.

Most of the "mystery" planes being groomed for the Shell, Greve and Thompson speed dashes remained as much of a mystery as ever, despite days of secret and semi-secret test flights. Most enigmatic was the tiny silver "vest-pocket" racer of Harry Crosby, stubby little airmail pilot of Glendale.

Crosby was still struggling to get the "bugs" out of his motor to prevent it from over-heating but hoped to make his first tryout around the pylons this morning.

Last night it was only a 50-50 wager that the plane would be in condition.

Michel Detroyat's $1,000,000 French Caudron-Renault, Lee Shoenhar's Menasco, and Earl Ortman's Kelsie-Rider—other prime favorites in the $50,000 free-for-all Thompson event Monday—were pronounced mechanically fit.

Crosby, Detroyat and Shoenhar were billed to perform late today in the qualifying event for ships with 550 cubic inch motors. Other entrants in this group were Dave Elmdorf of Palms, Calif.; Rudy Kling of Lemont, Ill.; and Marion McKen of Inglewood, Calif., all of whom also are entered in the Thompson race.

Police News

Tulare county officers asked local sheriffs officers today to inform Ben Lyon, of Artesia, that Charles Lyon, his brother, of Buena Park, is in critical condition at a Tulare hospital as the result of a traffic mishap.

An automobile apparently abandoned by two drunken Mexicans, was found yesterday on Garden Grove boulevard near Berrydale road, and impounded at Abel's garage. Garden Grove, sheriff's officers were informed. The car was registered to Tony Morones, 708 Fairlawn street, Santa Ana. Deputy Sheriff James Workman learned.

Investigating complaint of a neighbor who would not reveal his name that a drunk man was active at 114 Garfield street, at 4:30 a. m. today, Officers L. C. Snodgrass and A. F. Moulton found Herman Formosa, who was not intoxicated at all but, with a high fever, was suffering severe mental disorder. He was rushed to county hospital in an ambulance.

Held for prosecution in connection with violation of the immigration laws, Genaro Soldado, 24 who could give no address, was booked at county jail early this morning by Immigration Officers Althouse and Kearney.

Arrested by Officer Horace Lucy of Placentia last night on a bench warrant, Richard Ochoa, 31, was jailed to await arrival of Los Angeles officers, who will escort him to Los Angeles for prosecution.

Marshall F. Brockway, 41-year-old news vendor, Westwood Village today began serving a 30-day term in county jail after conviction on a petty theft charge. He was brought in by Officer Frank Naylor of Newport Beach.

H. M. Peterson, Katella and Haster roads, reported to sheriff's officers yesterday he returned home to find his $3 pet rabbit stolen.

City police today were investigating the disappearance of a golf bag and set of golf clubs, on complaint of Mrs. Joe Kane, 1321 West Washington.

A small, toy car, valued at $10 and belonging to Jimmy Burg, 412 North Flower, was being hunted by city police today after Russell Burg reported it stolen.

Officers C. V. Adams and H. E. Holmes were unable to find a prowler reported seen late last night at the rear of 2369 Riverside drive.

On report of E. F. Howard, 2606 Valencia, that someone was shooting a gun about 2 a. m. today in Santiago creek bed, Officers L. F. Snodgrass and A. F. Moulton investigated but found no one harmed and no damage done.

James Winn, 19, and Francis Smythe, Long Beach, were ordered to secure peddlers' licenses or leave town, yesterday, after citizens complained they were trying to sell bandages from house to house. Officers Charles Wolford and Ralph Pantuso investigated.

City police were called upon to guard a walnut orchard belonging to Charles Tustin at First and Grand, after Tustin reported several Mexican children were taking the walnuts as rapidly as they fell upon the ground. Officers said today they would patrol the district regularly.

BREA GUILD TO NAME OFFICERS

BREA, Sept. 4.—Resuming activities after the summer, the Guild of the Congregational church met in the social hall there on Wednesday afternoon for a program which was followed by a tea. Approximately 35 were present.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. R. Nerley, Mrs. W. D. Tremaine and Mrs. T. E. Moore.

Mrs. J. D. Neils, chairman of the guild, announced that election of officers for the coming year will take place in November. Mrs. A. J. Barnes has been named program chairman, taking the place of Mrs. Carol Gaylord who is now a resident of Eagle Rock.

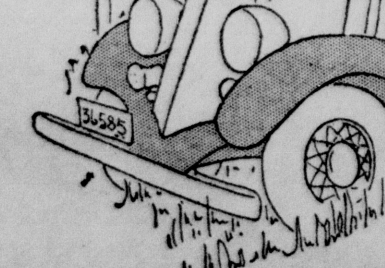

Mrs. Barnes gave a splendid review of "The Lord's Anointed," a book depicting the devotion and courage of a missionary family.

THE WORLD AT ITS WORST

ROUTE 1 TO ALL POINTS

By CLUYAS WILLIAMS

LONDON, F. D. R. CLOSE PARLEY

governors participating in the conference.

When, at the close of a busy, crowded day, the president headed eastward toward Washington and the governor of Kansas sped westward to Topeka, it appeared unlikely that there had been any concrete developments save an exchange of ideas.

Ideas Coincided But it also was indicated that in many respects the programs favored by the president for the entire drought area and by Governor Landon for his own state were not far divided.

The president was understood to have complimented the Kansas chief executive in connection with the work of Kansas officials on water conservation and surveys of soil conditions. RA Administrator Rexford Tugwell recalled that Governor Landon two years ago had favored, on a visit to Washington, plans for state and federal cooperation in water conservation projects which have since been of aid in lessening the drought in Kansas.

There was still another point more strikingly emphasized.

In a memorandum left with the president, Governor Landon reiterated his views on emergency and long-range drought relief and emphasized the desirability of state and federal cooperation in water storage projects in Kansas and similar states, especially though construction of ponds, lakes and reservoirs in whole into store rainfall.

The proposals were in various respects similar to ideas which the administration has aided or supported.

President Pleased

The conferences among the president and the governors of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma had hardly broken up last night when Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said:

"It was a fine conference. The president was well pleased. 'As the president could not foresee the drought, there probably will be a need for more relief money than was anticipated. A result of the conference here probably will be construction of more ponds, dams and other water storage projects.'"

The president, in general, discussed with the governors individually a three-point program for immediate aid to the drought winter and in raising the next crop, and a long range program to combat the drought scourge in the farm states. In regard to the third point, the president emphasized the need for a program of better land use and for the cooperation of the states.

Governor Landon, sitting beside Mr. Roosevelt at the desk of Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa as the Kansas delegation conferred with the president and his advisers, presented many questions and presented various suggestions himself or through his state officials.

The Republican nominee was understood to have divided his suggestions into the two general classifications: (1) Immediate relief and (2) a permanent program calling for joint action by the government and the states.

Suggests Rate Cut His immediate suggestions included plans for reduced freight rates to move feed and cattle and the necessary provisions for farm families facing hunger and privations.

In general, he was understood to have discussed the necessity of thorough surveys to aid in water and wind erosion control; development and improvement of farm-to-market roads; use of federal and state departments of agriculture as information centers for farmers.

Some of these undertakings, the Kansas governor was reported to have suggested, could be included under the federal relief program to aid farmers in the drought region, as could the construction of storage ponds and lakes.

Throughout the day, politics was the only subject that was on the banned list. The president told the Republican nominee about some of the trials he encountered in fishing, a sport which Governor Landon particularly enjoyed, and once he gave suggestion about life in the White House.

"Let me tell you, Alf Landon," he remarked in the midst of a conversation that was crammed with chuckles, "if you succeed me in the White House you want to get a boat. Get a small boat and go down the Potomac on weekends and fish. Things would be pretty terrible sometimes if it weren't for weekend fishing."

At the dinner on the president's train the talk was along general lines, without mention of the drought.

"You wouldn't have known there was a politician there, either," one of the diners said. "The president said he had had a delightful day and one of the best receptions of his trip."

Governor Landon left by automobile immediately after the dinner, while the president's train remained until about midnight.

SHAVES MAN WHO RESEMBLES KILLER

Lemuel A. Walkinshaw, proprietor of the Walkinshaw Barber shop, 908 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, was busy shaving and cutting hair yesterday afternoon when into his shop strode a customer. There seemed to be something a little out of the ordinary about this customer who had a three day growth of beard.

Suddenly it came to Walkinshaw why he thought he had recognized the man in his chair. The man under the latter resembled Court ("Coke") Britte of the infamous Britte murder case at Yreka. However, when talking about the affair the man in the chair appeared unconcerned and cool. When he left Walkinshaw happened to mention the resemblance to another customer in the shop.

Customer No. 1 told a man on the street, who in turn relayed the story to Jailer Budge Lacy, who informed the police.

But it was not for the Santa Ana force to make a sensational catch as the killers are still in the neighborhood of Yreka, authorities believe.

GRANGE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY EVENT

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 4.—With a huge birthday cake beside which burned a single candle, Garden Grove Grange yesterday celebrated its first birthday anniversary. Many visitors were present from other units of the county and after a short business session games were enjoyed before the cutting of the beautifully decorated cake.

Two new members, Johnny Hanks and Harry G. Gardner were given the obligation. The lecturer announced the Booster Night celebration on September 15 which will be in the form of a chicken dinner served from 6:30 until 7:30 o'clock. During the evening there will be entertainment furnished by high school students and other local talent.

Conduct Funeral Of Pearl Dennis

Funeral services for Miss Pearl Dennis of Santa Ana, who passed away Tuesday morning after a prolonged illness, were held Thursday afternoon at Melrose Abbey mausoleum, with the Gilgilly Funeral home of Orange in charge of arrangements. The Rev. Arthur T. Hobson of the First Methodist church of Orange officiated at the rites.

Accompanying herself at the organ, Mrs. J. P. Williams, of Santa Ana, offered two vocal selections, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "In the Garden." Mrs. Williams also played before and after the services. Survivors are one brother, W. B. Dennis, of Orange; two sisters, Mrs. Dora Wray Templeman, of Iowa City, and Miss Allie Dale Young of Greeley, Colo.

Miss Dennis had lived in California for 20 years. She came to Santa Ana eight years ago. She was born in Iowa City, Ia.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

BEHOLD, French-Spanish Frontier. Sept. 4.—(UP)—Spanish rebels stormed Irun with bayonet and hand grenade today and fought their way house by house through the city.

The rebels at once extended their attack to the west, and fighting broke out at Pasajes, the fishing port half way between Irun and San Sebastian. Capture of Pasajes would cut off all means of escape from San Sebastian by sea and it was believed the loyalists there would abandon the fight. Ortega Gutierrez civil governor of San Sebastian, fled to France.

Carlisle volunteers, red bereted, and foreign legionnaires, stripped to the waist, led the attack on Irun that broke the loyalist defense. Behind the Carlisle and the legion men were bearded turbaned Moors, mopping up, with rifle, grenade and knife, killing all in their path.

Flames licked up from buildings fired by incendiary grenade, incendiary artillery shell and dynamite mine.

Six hundred anarchist and communist workers made a last stand at the Bidasoa river bridge. They were all left of 10,000. Group by group the green, exhausted militiamen, 10 days under a savage attack, had broken during the morning and fled to France, many wounded.

At noon their ammunition gave out, and the 600 fired their last shots as they stood, back to the river, at the bridgehead.

Almost no prisoners were taken. The rebels as they moved forward killed every man remaining, who held a gun, whether he was fighting, running away or trying to surrender.

Irun's streets are red with the blood of its men, and in places it looks like an abattoir. The fighting has been matched in savagery only at Badajoz, where uncounted hordes died in a rebel slaughter.

IN the spring, eggs of the hop-plum louse hatch out females. These females bring forth living young within about eight days, and continue bringing forth new female families throughout the summer. These offspring, in turn, bear generation after generation of female young during the summer. But when autumn comes, a brood consisting exclusively of males is produced, to start the next season's supply.

A Basque Nationalist is to be included in the new cabinet as minister of public works, but so far his name has not been announced.

Largo Caballero, 67, is a colorful figure, long prominent in Spanish politics. He had a difficult struggle as a youth, going to work at the age of seven. Hence he has always been close to the toiling masses and has been constantly identified with leftist movements.

In 1917 he was sentenced to life imprisonment because of his political activities, but later was released. He was a constant agitator against King Alfonso, who was forced to abdicate in 1931.

He was accused of inciting the revolution against the republican government in 1934, but later was acquitted by a court. He is highly influential in labor circles and was largely responsible for forming the "popular front" now in control of Madrid.

BEGIN HERE TODAY JUDITH HOWARD, engaged to STEPHEN FOWLER for four years, breaks the engagement because Stephen is unwilling to marry her and let her continue with her job. Judith is encouraged in this move by her friend, VIRGINIA BENT.

Lonely and unhappy, Judith goes for a walk and steps in front of an approaching automobile. To avoid hitting her, the driver swerves and strikes a fire hydrant. He is injured and taken to a hospital. Judith, feeling responsible, goes also.

At the hospital young DR. EDEN HARRIS tells her the motorist's injuries are not serious. Later Dr. Harris takes her home. In a burst of confidence Judith tells him about her broken engagement.

Dr. Harris asks if he can come to call on her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII NEXT morning Judith Howard telephoned the hospital soon after she had come to work.

"How is Mr. Francis Jarvis, please?" There was a moment's wait while the operator consulted her card file. Then: "Mr. Jarvis was discharged early this morning. His injuries were very slight."

But Judith's conscience wouldn't let it go at that. She realized she had been the indirect cause of the man's accident, and she wanted him to know she was ready to accept a certain responsibility. In the telephone directory she found Jarvis' office number beneath that of his home number. Deciding that it would be better to see him personally than to try to explain matters over the telephone, she obtained permission to take an hour off.

When she had reached the offices of Francis Jarvis she was due for a surprise. They were luxurious business quarters, indeed, and she quickly discovered that in them the name of Francis Jarvis was important. Of course she had noticed that his automobile had been no small model—but nowadays even the moderately fixed may drive more than eight cylinders.

The girl in the walnut-paneled reception room regarded Judith with polite suspicion. "What did you wish to see Mr. Jarvis about?" Perhaps Mr. Pomeroy, his assistant, could be of service to you, Mr. Jarvis was injured slightly in an automobile accident last night—and I was responsible."

"I see. Just a moment, please." Expertly the girl plugged in. And apparently Jarvis was guarded by still another young woman. "Please tell Mr. Jarvis that a Miss Howard is here to see him. It's with regard to—a—automobile accident last night." There was a moment's silence, after which the switchboard operator told Judith, "Please go right in." She nodded toward a beautifully figured walnut door.

Hesitatingly, Judith opened it, stepped onto a deep, soft carpet. At the other end of the good-sized room was a broad, flat desk which held nothing more than a green blotter pad and an ornate pen set. Behind it sat a man of middle-age, slender, a bit florid. His dark eyes were younger than his face, but when he smiled—as he did now—his face complemented the eyes, and he seemed to drop five or six years.

"Miss Howard?" he said. "Won't you please sit down?"

JUDITH thanked him, choosing the nearest leather-cushioned chair. Suddenly it occurred to her how absurd it was for her to be offering this man responsibility for the accident.

"You wanted to see me about last night's little accident?" With a smile Jarvis touched the side of his head where a broad patch of white tape covered his dark hair. "You're not by any chance that very preoccupied young woman who caused me to swerve into an unyielding fire hydrant?"

"I'm afraid I was," Judith said. "I came to tell you how sorry I am—and to assure you that I feel quite responsible for any damage."

He looked at her amusedly. "Just what do you mean?" Judith resented his apparent mild amusement. Getting to her feet, she said, "Of course I didn't know what your circumstances might be, and—"

"Oh, please don't think I don't appreciate your thoughtfulness." He laughed pleasantly. "The bond business hasn't been quite as good as it might be, you know. I may hold you responsible, at that!"

"That would be fair enough," Judith said, and gave him her address and telephone number.

SMILING, Jarvis wrote it down on a desk pad. Then he tossed down the pencil and grew serious. "Really, Miss Howard, I think this is splendid of you. But I assure you that the matter isn't serious and I'm more than willing to take care of the damage." He smiled again.

Francis Jarvis accompanied her to the door of his office. "Good-by, Miss Howard. And I want to thank you again. I'll be glad to have you drop in any time."

Virginia and Bob Bent were mightily interested when Judith related her meeting with Dr. Eden Harris. "It didn't take you long to get under way after you broke the lease with Steve!" was Virginia's comment.

Court Notes

Trial of Manuel Seberos, charged with burglary of the Fred Lyons dwelling, 1435 West First street, Santa Ana, on August 16, was set for September 24 in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, when Seberos pleaded not guilty at today's arraignment before Judge James L. Allen.

James W. Beck, found guilty of drunk driving August 12, at Fullerton, where William Phelps was injured, today was placed on probation for four years and required to serve one year in the county jail. In making the probation order, Judge James L. Allen ordered Beck's driving license cancelled.

Mrs. Alma Cox today filed suit in superior court for a divorce from Orville Cox, whom she charged with cruelty. They married in San Bernardino August 15, 1931, and separated January 5, 1934.

Robert W. Page today applied to superior court for letters of administration over the $5000 estate left by his father, George W. Page, who died March 15. The heirs include five children, Robert, Frank, George Jr. and Effie Shaw, all of Costa Mesa; Alice E. Chandler, of Westminster, and the two heirs of a deceased daughter.

Mrs. Ina Michaeli was plaintiff today in a divorce action instituted in superior court against Jesse Michaeli, who was charged with cruelty. Attorney F. M. Lyon, Fullerton, represents the wife. The Michaelis were married in Fullerton April 5, 1919, and separated June 6, this year.

Henry Wagner today filed suit in superior court against Frederick J. Engel and others, to foreclose a trust deed of $3709 against property in Anaheim.

Three suits to foreclose street improvement bonds in Fullerton were filed today in superior court by Trompeter and company, as follows: Against Laura F. Gregory, for $134.96; against William M. Fife, for $52.64; against Robert E. Corcoran, for $135.36.

Three speeders who pleaded guilty in city court yesterday paid fines of $8 each. They were Paul Burnett, Corona; Hugh Grant, Los Angeles, and Robert F. Williams, 326 West Chapman avenue, Fullerton. Elmer Baumbaugh paid $1 for failure to have a driver's license with him while driving. For illegal parking, $1 each was paid by Virginia B. Lindsey, Mildred Decker, W. M. Manning, M. E. Jemison and Frank Gardner.

Local Briefs

Mrs. Ferris Scott returned to her home at 824 Kilson drive yesterday from Rochester, N. Y., where she spent most of the summer with relatives. Mrs. Scott is greatly improved in health following an operation for appendicitis.

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 4.—Adult Forum classes of the Wintersburg Methodist Community church will resume following a summer's vacation on Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock, with Mrs. George Harding as chairman of the program for the season. The Epworth league and the Intermediate league will meet at the same hour.

The regular church services will be at 7:30 o'clock and sermon topics as announced by the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Thompson, are, "What Constitutes Human Rights?" for the morning service and "Fruits of Christian Labor" for the evening.

TRIES TO GET MONEY ORDER WITHOUT MONEY

Frantically, a local Mexican dashed into the Santa Ana post office building and rushed up to the money order window to obtain a $4 or $5 money order to send to loved ones in Mexico.

The clock was striking the hour of 1 p. m.—closing time. But Louis G. Schnitzler, money order clerk, in happy mood and with compassionate heart, spoke right up and said:

"Oh, sure, fill out the blank and I'll give you the money order. I'll hold the window open for you."

Three minutes, four minutes, five minutes, passed. At last the money order blank, one of the international variety, was ready. Schnitzler took it. He very carefully filled in all of the figures and names necessary to create a money order. He handed it through the window "bars".

"Money please," he requested politely.

"Oh, but I have no money with me; I'll pay you tomorrow," the Mexican declared just as politely.

Today, Schnitzler was having a headache as he signed all of the forms necessary to cancel an unused money order. But true to his word, the Mexican did return with the money. And, as the law requires, received a brand new money order! His loved ones in Mexico will be happy soon.

TO REORGANIZE WALTHER LEAGUE

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Formation of the Senior Walther league of the St. John's Lutheran church into four groups will be effected at a meeting to be held September 9, according to a decision reached at a recent meeting of the league at the Walker Memorial hall. Group No. 1 will include boys three years beyond graduation from high school, group No. 2, girls of the same ages; group No. 3, young men older than group No. 1, and group No. 4, young women older than group No. 2.

Officers are to be selected for the groups on Wednesday and officers for the league as a whole will consist of executives of the smaller groups, the pastor, the Rev. A. C. Bode and the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahl, and the senior adviser, J. J. Troester. Each group is to hold separate meetings with a joint social meeting each month and a joint business and educational meeting each quarter.

Delegates to the Southern California Walther league convention at Long Beach October 3 and 4, have been selected and are Milton Quandt who will be in charge of tickets and hotel reservations, and Miss Ruth Schroeder, Miss Myrtle Schaefer, Miss Martha Unzleman and Ernest Duker. Two new members were welcomed this week, Willis Kohls and Miss Margaret Krause, of Santa Ana, recently from New York City.

At this week's meeting Miss Stella Wold, secretary of the district executive board of Montebello, gave a talk on the value of the Walther league. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Esther Wold. Miss Edna Bandick conducted the topic study.

INSTALL OFFICERS OF ORANGE METHODIST MISSIONARY GROUP

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Officers were installed yesterday at the regular meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church, held in the ladies parlor with Mrs. F. B. Shelton of Santa Ana, superintendent of junior work of the Pacific branch as installing officer. Mrs. Charlotte Wallace, who was re-elected president, was in charge of the session. Mrs. Horton M. Palmer of Santa Ana was the speaker of the afternoon.

Officers installed were as follows: President, Mrs. Charlotte Wallace; first vice president, Mrs. Sherman Gillogly; second vice president, Mrs. Carrie E. D. Riddle; treasurer, Miss Bertha Adams; recording secretary, Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss; corresponding secretary, Miss Emma Corson; extension secretary, Miss Cora Weetman; literature chairman, Miss Mary Bogue.

Religious and missionary education, Mrs. L. L. Williams; music, Miss Jeanette Draper; pianist, Mrs. Ralph Hull; financial secretary, Mrs. Carrie E. D. Riddle; mite boxes, Mrs. W. H. Hall; prayer circle, Mrs. J. E. Parks; Girls Missionary society, Miss Marjorie Riddle; Junior work, Miss Azalia Bebermeyer, Mrs. Ruth Gorton and Mrs. Arthur T. Sipherd; hostesses, Mrs. Bernice Moore; dramatics, Miss Bebermeyer; field supply, Miss Lulu Kenyon.

The program was opened by singing and special musical numbers were given by Mrs. James Winget with Mrs. C. Wesley Kolkhorst as her accompanist. New plans for the year were discussed by Mrs. Palmer, president of the district. She spoke of mission work to be promoted for the coming three years and which will lead up to the observance of the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the society in Boston, Mass. She also announced rally day for Orange county when missionary societies will meet at 10 a. m. at the Huntington Beach First Methodist church September 23 and when a number of district officers are to be present.

The parlor was decorated by Mrs. Bernice Moore with baskets and bouquets of autumn flowers including late lilacs, asters and zinnias. Mrs. Sheldon was welcomed as a new worker in Orange county, having moved to Santa Ana recently from Stockton. Her husband, Dr. F. B. Sheldon is connected with St. Joseph's hospital staff.

LEGION OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Officers were installed last night at the American Legion clubhouse with George H. Franzen acting as installing officer. David Fairbairn, outgoing commander, presided at the opening of the session and plans were made to stage a party in November when the club house mortgage is to be burned following the last payment on the $25,000 building.

New officers are commander, James Casto; first vice commander, Bert Holson; second vice commander, H. A. Osmun; adjutant, Edwin Westcott; chaplain, Dayton Ditchey; historian, George Bickford and sergeant-at-arms, John Eltiste.

Past Commander Fairbairn and Commander Casto made short talks and refreshments were served.

Digestion time of human beings is lengthened by high altitudes.

OBLIGATIONS OF CITIZENS LIONS TOPIC

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Discussing the importance of each citizen's assuming his responsibility to the government by casting his vote at elections, and touching on a number of governmental problems from a non-partisan standpoint, Ted Craig, speaker of the assembly, spoke to members of the Orange Lions club, Wednesday at a regular session at the American Legion clubhouse.

Craig urged Lions to go to the polls themselves and to aid in getting out a 100 per cent vote whether Republican or Democratic.

California will soon have prohibition, said Craig, if existing conditions of cocktail lounges side by side with gasoline stations continue. He outlined workings of the state sales and predicted that the state budget would be balanced within a few years time if important legislative measures now in effect are left alone.

Pennies at the rate of seven millions of dollars a month from the sales tax and four million a month from the gasoline tax are making up the revenue released by the state to counties and cities and will balance the state budget, he declared, pointing out that these taxes are assessed according to the ability to buy.

Luncheon Served By Aid Society

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—A luncheon served by Mesdames Charles Dyer, Ella O'Neal, Grace Cleveland and W. A. Settle and an afternoon spent in sewing for the Mingquong home in San Francisco, marked the meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid society yesterday. SEPTEMBER 17 IS DATE SET STEWARD CLASS

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Announcement of a district school of stewardship was made at a meeting of the First Christian missionary society yesterday afternoon, the event to take place September 16 at 7:30 p. m., and special session at 2 p. m. September 17 for women of the district.

The school will be held at the First Christian church and will be conducted by Neal McGowan, secretary of missions of Christian churches of Southern California.

Mrs. Angeline Courtney presided. Mrs. Rebecca Pope was program chairman and members of the committee for the afternoon assisting her were Mrs. Mary Moose, Mrs. Puri Shell, Mrs. A. A. Dewey, Miss Lewina Butler, and Mrs. F. V. Jamison.

The topic for the afternoon was "How the Negro Lives" with the topic for the devotional service, led by Mrs. Pope, "Moving Forward Toward God Through the Beautiful." Mrs. Mary Moose gave a reading and group singing was led by Mrs. Grace Strickland with Mrs. Grace Knoll at the piano. Flowers used in decorating the church parlor where the meeting took place, were arranged by Mrs. Pope.

Mrs. Courtney announced the goal for the coming year as $325, the sum being accepted by the society. Last year the group raised $282 for mission work. Mrs. Anna Granger reviewed the study book. The speakers were Mrs. Bertha McMasters of Fort Worth, Texas, and Mrs. Carrie King of Los Angeles, who discussed the problems of the Negroes in America.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Hanford stopped in Orange yesterday on their way to San Bernardino, to call on old friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Ragan and Mr. and Mrs. James Ragan.

Ben Brock of the firm of Reif and Brock of this city, is recovering from an operation which he underwent recently at St. Joseph hospital.

Miss Dorothy Perkins, 256 South Lemon street, and Miss Carrie Chandler, 215 South Orange street, were Wednesday night dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pyle of 529 South Van Ness avenue, Santa Ana.

BAPTIST MISSION GROUP IN MEETING

ORANGE, Sept. 4.—The Baptist Missionary society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. L. Chastain on North Shaffer street.

Mrs. H. T. Huffman presided at the business session. Devotions on the topic, "The King's Highway" were led by Mrs. W. H. Patrick. These devotions marked the first of a series of a new year's study, the general topic of which will be "Roads."

Program chairman Mrs. W. E. Smiley spoke on "Friendships in Black and White." She announced that the general topic for the whole year would be "Negroes."

The occasion marked the birthday of Mrs. Chastain and offered society members an opportunity to surprise the honoree and hostess by serving home-made cake and punch.

Those present were Mesdames Hazel Hasty, Roy Decker, A. W. Wade, C. C. Myracle, W. H. Patrick, Ida V. Putnam, Reuben Slater, Ralph Barnes, Ida Linnell, H. Thomas Huffman, W. E. Smiley, Ellen Johnson, Horace Newman, M. McCord, Mary Metz, daughter, Doris Metz, the Misses Stella Ruth Barnes, Evelyn Barnes and Mary Jane Huffman and the hostess Mrs. Chastain.

During 1935, tourists from other countries spent a total of $291,027,000 in Canada, according to estimates.

NEW CAMPAIGN SCHEDULED BY CUBOID FIRM

After several months of remarkable sales results and introductory testing in a Los Angeles department store, at Sebastian's Brownbills Shoe store in Santa Ana and in other stores throughout the United States, the Burns' Cuboid company of Santa Ana, is laying plans for a national sales and advertising campaign on their new product, Burns' cuboids.

Burns' cuboids introduce a new principle in foot health and comfort. Orthopedically correct, cuboids are constructed on the principle of proper body weight distribution throughout the foot. One of the chief causes of foot misery and discomfort arises because of weakened foot muscles holding the cuboid bone in place. Cuboids overcome this defect because they exercise the muscles in the foot and massage and build up the arch. Cuboids are not like the ordinary arch supporter as they do not place any weight under the arch of the foot. They are made to fit the foot. This new foot health appliance fits in any shoe like ordinary innersoles.

The factory is located at 1101 East First street, 12 people being employed. The daily capacity is 350 pairs per day, and with the sensational results being obtained in the present sales campaign, it is expected that early in the coming year the personnel at the factory will be greatly increased and the production raised to 1000 pairs per day.

The company selected Santa Ana as the site for its factory because of ideal living conditions and it is predicted that this factory will eventually put Santa Ana on the map nationally.

"Brothers Night" Staged by O. E. S.

FULLERTON, Sept. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Lewis were in charge of card games that followed a "Brothers Night" program and business meeting of the Amf Tai chapter, O. E. S., at Masonic temple Wednesday night. Refreshments were served also.

Score tallies revealed that Frank Miller and Mrs. Marguerite Beal won prizes in 500 and J. J. Alexander and Mrs. Rosalie Rudd in bridge.

A potluck supper will precede the business meeting and cards at the September 12 session.

Pope Sylvester II is credited with invention of the first clock in 995 A. D. They did not come into general use in Europe, however, until the 13th century.

RED CROSS GROUP NAMES CHAIRMAN

ANAHEIM, Sept. 3.—Miss Dorothy Yungbluth, vice chairman of the Anaheim chapter of the Red Cross for the past 18 months, was elected to the position of chairman of that organization to fill the vacancy left by Fred W. Smith, who recently moved from Anaheim, Wednesday night.

Charles E. Griffith was then elected vice president to succeed Miss Yungbluth. He is also home service chairman. The Rev. M. C. Schollenberger will represent the chapter on the Orange county council.

A quota of 800 members of the November roll call was announced, with organization work for that drive started. The drive will include the usual Junior Red Cross enrollment in the schools and plans are under way to include the rural schools in this program.

A first aid class will be organized in Anaheim later, according to a decision made in answer to requests which have come in to Dr. Harold Neslund, Maxine Whisnant, Ed Sockerson and William Squires, swimming instructors at the city plunge, were made Red Cross Life Saving examiners for the chapter, having been accredited as such.

Fall Season Is Opened By Club

HAMILTON, Ont. (UP)—Unaware that a plea of guilty and postin got a check covering a $25 fine for overworking his truck drivers, made an appearance in court unnecessarily, Murray Duncan, Ottawa, traveled the 400 miles from Ottawa to Hamilton with two of his drivers, to appear when the charge was read. Told by the court his journey was needless, Duncan and his men prepared for their return journey.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, September 4.—It seems that in these here now movies a bad man may turn righteous but a bad woman never. Myrna Loy is the solitary exception. Myrna's early career was strewn with misdeeds, but she alone of all the screen history's female heavies managed to reform and make the public like it. Estelle Taylor, Louise Glaum, Lilyan Tashman, Aileen Pringle, and several more tried, only to fail. But look among the masculine heroes of the day and you will discover many who started movie life as villains. To name a handful: Clark Gable, William Powell, Adolphe Menjou, Wallace Beery, Edward G. Robinson, Brian Donlevy. Many were the sneers these gents drew from audiences in their dark past screen lives. No one has satisfactorily explained why actresses who have played heavies can never turn heroines. Perhaps the answer is contained in the fact that movie audiences major in women; sixty-five per cent of the theater-going public are women. Now women in real life are not quick to condone the sins of one of their own sex, while a man's misdeeds of times make him more intriguing to the ladies. Funny, isn't it? This same attitude apparently extends to the screen, thus accounting for the popularity of the reformed Gables, Powells, et al, while the way is strewn with female heavies who are doomed to remain so. It is the old story; a good woman may pull an errand man up from the gutter, but a good man can never save an erring woman, for she will pull him down.

Amusing to watch stars "blow their lines." They all do it. Some curse right out loud; some smile; some blush. Lionel Barrymore accepts his mistakes calmly, with no more than a wry face such as he might make after a taste of bitter medicine. John Barrymore usually snaps one curse word, or in better mood will chant a phrase rhyming with the dialogue he muffed. Joan Crawford blushes; Joan hates to make mistakes. I saw Olivia de Havilland flee to her dressing-room in tears after she had stumbled over one speech six times. The years will erase that. Roland Young invariably apologizes to director, cameramen and crew. Dick Powell snaps his fingers. Jimmy Cagney grins and looks sheepish. Frank Morgan muffed his dialogue during a scene I witnessed yesterday. "Rot-ten!" snapped the director. "It's not in the script that way." "I know," Morgan snapped back, "I just re-wrote it."

The little girl's mother told me this story, so I cannot doubt its truth. They were returning from Hawaii and on the same ship was a producer with feeble memory for names and faces. Before the boat docked he approached the mother, presented a card of identification and introduced himself. "I have been watching your daughter and I believe she could be a rival to Shirley Temple. She even looks like Shirley." He then invited mother and child to Hollywood. The two did reach Hollywood and the mother telephoned the producer, but no screen test was ever made. You see, she was Mrs. George Temple, and the little girl was Shirley.

I encountered Hoot Gibson at the Trocadero last evening, and he was not quite sure whether he had been a sap or a regular fellow. He told me his story. Hoot made a picture for RKO, and he was to receive $500 for each day overtime. The last day of production he went on location for shots of himself alone, and to save money, the company took along no sound truck. Too late they discovered sound would be necessary; the action required a libbed dialogue. "Okeh, it means we work tomorrow," said Gibson. "Another day, another $500." "Yes, for you," said the assistant director, "but it means my job." "How come?" demanded Hoot. "I'll be canned," said the assistant for costing the studio that extra dough. I should have ordered a sound truck. "In that case," said Gibson, "I'll work tomorrow for nothing." And he did.

Greta Garbo attracts more attention by slinking and hiding than she would draw were she to act normally. I watched her enter and leave a tailor shop in mid-Hollywood. I happened to be parked near the entrance when her car drew in ahead of me and she exited. She walked leisurely to the building's entrance, stood momentarily in front of the show window, entered. Not one passer-by paid her the slightest heed. For some reason, Garbo changed her tactics when she came out. She looked furtively up and down street, pulled up her collar, slunk toward her parked car. Instantly a hundred eyes centered on her, and passersby stopped to ogle. She had so undeniably stamped herself a movie star that she could not fail to be observed.

DRILL TEAM OF LODGE PERFORMS

FULLERTON, Sept. 4.—The drill team of the Royal Neighbor lodge of Fullerton, directed by Mrs. Eunice Manuel, Wednesday night provided the entertainment for the meeting of the Fullerton Rebekah lodge at the Odd Fellows temple. Assisting the team were daughters of members who presented a minute dance number.

Miss Iva Schreple, noble grand, presided. She announced that District 50 will meet at Westminster next Tuesday where Helen Hum, a representative of the Rebekah Assembly, will be instructor. Grand officers, noble grands and vice grands will be guests of honor at a dinner preceding the meeting. Mrs. Edna Grunwald, Mrs. Hattie Hetebrink and Mrs. Olive Patton served refreshments at the close of the program.

NEED FOR SPEED CONTROL IS TOLD

FULLERTON, Sept. 4.—"When you are traveling 60 miles an hour in a car you are traveling 100 feet between every heart beat," Robert Hatfield told members of Fullerton Rotary club at the luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday in a discussion of the need of controlled speed.

According to Hatfield, over a period of 15 years more persons have been killed by automobiles and in wrecks involving automobiles than have been killed in the wars of the United States.

He suggested that mechanical controls are going to be necessary for the control of the speed of cars since people refuse to control speed. Leonard West, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Five hundred years before the birth of Christ, Hippocrates, a Greek, wrote a book on medical science which still is studied by students throughout the world.

Building Plans In County Total Nearly $500,000

BUILDERS SAY MANY PROJECTS TO BE STARTED

Prospective building plans estimated to the extent of $447,000 are being considered throughout the county. It was announced today by Franklin E. Smith, secretary-manager of the News Bulletin, official publication of the Orange county Builders' Exchange.

Bids will be received until 7:30 p. m. September 12 by the Brea elementary school district for the reconstruction, rehabilitation and strengthening of the main building at the Laurel school, Brea, a PWA project. The work will consist of removing existing tile walls and replacing them with frame and plaster construction, adding bracing, painting and other improvements. The estimated cost rests at $40,000, according to Smith.

Fullerton city council is discussing plans for a proposed new city hall and jail to be built on West Commonwealth avenue at a cost of $65,000. G. Stanley Wilson, Mission Inn, Riverside, is the architect.

Buildings Proposed

Olive school district has applied to the WPA for aid in financing the construction of a proposed gymnasium and auditorium building on a two-acre site near the Olive grammar school. Plans for the building, prepared by Fay R. Spangler of Santa Ana, contemplate a one-story and basement, reinforced concrete structure to cost $42,000.

Plans are now in PWA office at Los Angeles and will be released shortly for the Valencia high school at Placentia, Smith stated.

The $300,000 bond issue to provide a sewage collection and disposal system for Newport Beach was affirmed by Newport Beach voters on August 15.

The following business men, all of Huntington Beach, are having plans prepared for new residences that they intend to build in that district: S. R. Bowen, 201 Fifth street; A. H. Dixon, 627 Main street; and H. H. McVicar, 17th street; all have indicated that they are going to build new homes, according to Smith.

POLICE RACE 85 M. P. H. TO NAB SPEEDING, VACATIONING TEXAN

By MALCOLM BOSTWICK

If you ever come to California from Texas on a vacation trip, don't drive your car between San Diego and Los Angeles at a speed of 85 miles per hour, if you want to enjoy your vacation.

That's what Mr. Cooper of the Waco street, Fort Worth, Texas, Coopers realized today after California Highway Patrol Officers W. W. Meyer and Horace Inge of Orange county went to San Diego in the highway patrol car on an investigation.

Returning from the investigation and just leaving San Diego, on Coast highway, the two Orange county officers were suddenly surprised by a Texas car which passed them at 75 miles per hour.

"He looks like he might have an accident," said Inge to Meyer. "You're right," said Meyer to Inge. Inge tramped down upon the accelerator, "Inge kept shovin' her down and shovin' her down and pretty soon there wasn't any more to shove down," Meyer explained today. And the Texas named Cooper kept right on, according to the officers, weaving in and out of traffic like he either intended to commit suicide, murder or mayhem. The officers' only advantage was in having special brakes on their car which permitted them to rush through traffic and stop more quickly than Cooper, in his car. They gained a little.

Push Gas Down

Meyer, with Inge driving, kept pushing on the "accelerator," which happened to be the floor boards in his case, but the police car couldn't do any better. Strangely enough, it was the brakes on the police car which permitted the officers to gain in the pursuit. If Meyer had been interested in the "knock-knock-who's-there" game at all, that moment, he would have remarked: "Inge, you got any more accelerator to shove down?" But Meyer wasn't interested in the "knock-knock-who's-there" game, at the moment, and he didn't ask.

As they flashed through Solano Beach, 20 miles from the start of their mad dash, they happened to espy Highway Patrol Officer O'Mara and his motorcycle in front of Justice of the Peace Cochran's court. They beckoned to O'Mara as they hurried through the townsite at 85 miles per hour. He followed, caught up with them, passed them, in the mad chase.

At Encinitas, Cooper, the fleeing vacationist, bound for Los Angeles, fell into the hands of the law. Officers O'Mara, Meyer and Inge.

He was returned to the court of Judge Cochran.

"If a citizen of California went to Texas and violated as many traffic laws as you have violated today, we wouldn't even consider him a good citizen of the United States," Judge Cochran told Cooper. "He could expect no sympathy from his fellow citizens of this state. I must fine you $200 or give you 30 days in the San Diego county jail."

Has No Money

Cooper stood with his mouth wide open. "But I haven't the money to pay the fine," he faltered.

"I'm sorry," declared the judge. "You took hundreds of lives in your own hands today. If you can't pay the fine, you must go to jail."

"We just slunk out of the courtroom and left for home," Officer Meyer related. "We thought the judge would give him a $25 or $50 fine."

Up the highway, Officer Inge, after a complete silence for several miles, turned to his companion and asked, simply: "Did you hear what Judge Cochran said?" Officer Meyer said he did, and the silence was resumed.

But today, both Meyer and Inge admitted that human lives are worth more than vacation trips, any day.

Improve Cafe In Silverado Canyon

Electrification of Cafe Silverado, dining and dancing place in Silverado canyon near Shady Brook, has just been completed, according to announcement of Mrs. George J. Baker, today. Mrs. Baker, owner of the cafe, stated that electrical equipment has been installed throughout by Wilson and Hill, Santa Ana electrical appliance dealers.

Police News

Charged with forgery, 17-year-old Harold Arnold, 709 North Spadra, Fullerton, was held under $1000 bail by Judge Frank Tausch of Anaheim city court, Wednesday. Arnold was booked at county jail by Chief James A. Bouldin of Anaheim.

Held for violation of probation in Los Angeles county, F. W. Beckhold, 30, Laguna Beach, was rebooked at county jail here today. He will be taken to Los Angeles for prosecution.

Jailed by Newport Beach police on a vagrancy charge, Howard Morris, 23, who said he was from Centerville, Iowa, was convicted and ordered to serve 12 1/2 days.

Court Notes

Preliminary hearing of the bookmaking charge against R. E. Phillips, Anaheim, arrested following a recent raid by district attorney and sheriff's officers, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed at request of the defendant, to October 13, at 9 a. m. The postponement was granted by Judge Kenneth Morrison. Santa Ana justice court.

POSTPONED SOCIAL

TALBERT, Sept. 4.—The benefit social which has been announced for Monday evening, September 7, for the gardens of Mrs. Anna Helm's home, has been postponed indefinitely. Several conflicting circumstances made the date impossible, but it is the intention of the Greenville and Talbert missionary society which was sponsoring it, to hold it at a later date.

JAYSEE SOPHOMORES PLAN FOR FRESHMAN DAYS SEPT. 8, 9, 10

Sophomore committeemen at Santa Ana junior college were today preparing for their final meeting tomorrow night in order to complete plans made in June for the annual Freshman Days program, September 8, 9 and 10. L. L. Beeman, social science instructor, has again undertaken the task of acting as faculty chairman.

With the program nearing completion, both faculty and student leaders will discuss their forthcoming task at this meeting besides making any additional plans for what they hope will be the most successful of any Freshman Days.

Committees who will have charge of introducing the prospective students to college life and to the campus itself follow:

El Don, weekly newspaper, committee: Bob Swanson, editor; Frank Guthrie, sports editor; Harvey Baker, advertising manager, and Dorothy Griset.

Greeting committee: Jean Reuter, chairman, Robert Spray, Paul Christ, Charlotte Mock and Mildred Piler.

Hospitality: Chairman Barbara Leebach, Henrietta Rurup, Mildred Holmes, Marjorie Nelson, Max Galusha, Georgianne Ange, Charles McIntyre, Mary Knoche, Charlie Miller, Lois Newbold and Dick Mather.

Assembly committee: Frank Guthrie, chairman, Muriel Green, Margaret Denni and Beverly House.

Information desk clerks: Helena Bailey and Bessie Burles.

"WIMPY," SANTA ANA DOG, PICKS OWN ORANGES, DRINKS COFFEE

By MARVIN SPICER

If you would say to the average dog that you encounter on the street, "How are ya, Towser? How's about stepping into a cafe and getting a cup of coffee and sliced orange?" he would probably look at you quizzically and comment in terse, canine language, "Huh, this guy's cracked!"

However, at 917 South Garnsey street there lives just such a dog in person—if dogs have persons—of Wimpy who resides with his owner and master Armand Hanson, the nightball pitcher who is playing with Santa Ana in the Southern California softball tourney at Los Angeles this week.

Wimpy is surely fitting timber for Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" column in that to him there is nothing more edible than a ripe orange. Wimpy, or "Wimp" as he is affectionately known by his cronies in the neighborhood, is a medium sized black and white sleek haired dog.

Concerning Wimpy's epicurean likings, there's nothing he would rather eat than an orange. In fact, he will even pick them from a tree. On the side of the Hanson house is an orange tree. Whether navel or valencia is beside the point for Wimpy likes 'em both. While his animal pals are going home to suppers of hamburger steaks and juicy bones, Wimpy will ignore his food and tie himself to the orange tree for repast.

Surprisingly enough, Wimpy can ascertain the difference between a ripe and green orange and very seldom picks one that isn't ready to be eaten. Having picked a fruit, and often he has to leap high for one, the dog will break open the peeling and just eat the pulp itself, leaving the hull undevoured. Even the recent citrus strike that had the county peace force up in arms failed to stop Wimpy from his citric raptures.

Veterinarians might say that Wimpy's love for oranges is due to some requirement for citric acid in his canine system but to this Wimpy retorts, "Nuts, wait till I learn to use an orange squeeze."

OREGON NATURE NOTE

BEND, Ore., (UP)—Something may be radically wrong with Oregon's animals. A few days after a forest ranger reported a deer giving full chase to a full-grown bobcat, Morgan Williamson, a service station attendant, vouched for a California tourist's story that a cougar had attacked his automobile on a mountain highway.

SEEK TALENT FOR MOVIE IN S. A. ON SEPT. 9

As part of a nation wide search for talented children to portray roles in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," Selznick International pictures, Culver City, will send a party of casting directors to Santa Ana next Wednesday afternoon to search for film ability among the local youngsters, it was announced today.

All children—boys and girls—between the ages of 10 and 14 will be eligible to try out, according to William H. Wright, production aide to David O. Selznick.

The search is for Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, Becky Thatcher, and the various other characters of Mark Twain's saga of boyhood life along the Mississippi. In all, the studio is seeking eight child characters.

Coupled with the announcement of the search locally, which will be held at Birch park, beginning at 4:30 p. m., was a plea to mothers from Director William A. Wellman, who will handle the picture. "Do not," said Wellman, "go out of your way to dress up your boy or girl. We want to see them exactly as they are—their natural selves. And do not attempt to coach them prior to the reviewing."

Thus far, the Selznick International quest has resulted in the interviewing of approximately 10,000 youngsters, with 135 screen tests having been made from the best of this number. To date, however, there has not been a single casting, and, according to Wright, none will be made until all possibilities have been seen.

Binding of baby girls' feet still is a custom in certain districts of China.

Runs Ad And Offered Seven Jobs

It pays to advertise — in The Register.

For months Fred Cartwright jr., of 1126 West Walnut, had been looking for work but his search had proven fruitless. It seemed as though there was no work to be had. Finally he decided to tell more people that he wanted work and ran a two line classified advertisement in The Register.

The advertisement appeared in the paper Wednesday evening and by 9 a. m. Thursday morning he had seven offers of employment, all of them by telephone. There is work to be had, according to Cartwright, but the only way to find it is to contact a lot of people and the best way to make these contacts is through The Register.

Miss Conkle Is Bride Of J. Cottrell

Two well known Santa Anans, James J. Cottrell and his bride, the former Miss Edna May Conkle, are honeymooning in Forest Home following their quiet marriage Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Orange Avenue Christian church.

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of First Christian church, officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by 30 friends of the bridal couple. Flowers used in decorating were in the rich tones of autumn.

The Misses Lola and Dempsey Fride sang a duet, "Sweetheart in Prayer," words of which were written by the bridegroom. Accompanying the vocalists at the piano was Miss Juanita Patton, who also played the wedding marches. Miss Patton herself is a bride-elect, her marriage to Harold Ames of San Bernardino anticipated as an event of Saturday.

Wednesday night's bride was charmingly attired in a King's blue velvet gown worn with matching hat and lovely corsage of gardenias, pansies and yellow roses. There were no attendants.

Returning to Santa Ana early next week, Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell will make their home at 403 East Pine street, where the bride's mother, Mrs. Mattie F. Conkle resides. The bridegroom formerly lived at 217 Maple street. He is employed as an accountant with the Alpha Beta stores. The new Mrs. Cottrell is chemistry instructor at Santa Ana Junior college, having taught in this city for the past 19 years. She received her bachelor and master's degrees from the University of California, Berkeley. Mr. Cottrell had his schooling at Hiram college.

Business Girls Plan First Fall Meeting

After a summer vacation session members of Wyoecene Maegdon Tuesday will resume regular meetings Tuesday evening, September 15 at 6:15 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Such was the plan made last night when cabinet members were entertained in the home of the club advisor, Miss Genevieve Humiston in Laguna Beach.

A colorful motif was observed for the dinner, which was served at a table spread with a red-checked cloth and centered with a bouquet of golden glow.

Present with Miss Humiston were the Misses Rowena Newcomb, Elsie Stemen, Rose Lesh, Jean Emma, Virginia Anthony, Kay Clark and Mrs. William Fritcher.

Al Fresco Dinner Is Planned As Compliment To Indianans

Knowing that their many friends here were eager to meet the eastern relatives now visiting in their home, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, 1320 North Broadway, last night entertained at a gala dinner in compliment to their house-guests, Mrs. Flagg's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Long and their son-in-law, daughter and young granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kinley and Miss Marilyn Kinley, all of Richmond, Ind.

Fiftieth Anniversary Will Be Celebrated With Open House

Extending general invitation to all their friends to an open house affair tomorrow afternoon at their home, 236 Victoria street, Costa Mesa, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Klingensmith will observe their golden wedding day.

Afternoon reception hours will follow an intimate little family dinner at mid-day, at which their only living son, Forest Klingensmith with his wife and their little four-year-old daughter, Shirley Irene, will be present from Chico, Friends on the Mesa and in this city have been aware that Mr. and Mrs. Klingensmith were planning to celebrate this fiftieth wedding day, and the word has gone out that everybody would be welcome.

Prominent among the guests will be members of the Full Gospel church to which they belong, and of which the Rev. Mr. Cleveland is pastor. Guests will find the home adorned with many flowers, Mesa gardens having yielded of their loveliest autumn blooms for the event.

Mrs. Klingensmith will have her bridegroom's gift of a corsage cluster of sweet peas, his favorite flower, to adorn the pretty black gown which she will wear.

This golden wedding is far more than a celebration of a half century of married life, for the celebrants have known each other from childhood days. Mr. Klingensmith was born in Pennsylvania, and was a lad of only 12 when he went to Missouri, the home state of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Collins and their little daughter Viola. He worked for Mr. Collins for a number of years, and when he had grown to manhood he and Miss Viola were wedded on September 5, 1886.

Their twelfth in Missouri, near Princeton, and there their two children were born, the elder, a little daughter, dying in early childhood. They came to California in 1911 and lived at Pomona until five years ago when they purchased the acreage at Costa Mesa and built the attractive home where they plan to spend the sunset days of life. Their only son is a rancher at Chico, and his little daughter, Shirley Irene, is the only grandchild on both sides of the house.

Bridge Party Guests Exchange Vacation Experiences

Presiding as hostess at a charmingly arranged party Wednesday afternoon in her home on Prospect avenue, Mrs. Earl McBay brought together members of her bridge club and other guests. Purple and white asters brightened rooms for the occasion.

Vacation experiences were exchanged by the group during the afternoon, since several of the guests had been on trips this summer. Mrs. McBay and her young son, Billy Bob, returned two weeks ago from a month's trip to Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Omaha and other states. On the return travels they were met in San Francisco by Mr. McBay.

Mrs. Lu Ella Greene and her daughter, Miss Alberta Greene, arrived home last week from an extended stay in the east, having attended summer session at Cornell University. Miss Rowena Newcomb returned several days ago from Oklahoma City after a several weeks stay; Miss Marjorie Lauderbach had been in the east for the tennis tournament in which she participated. Other guests had been east, or had been enjoying trips to the mountains, so travel tales were the order of the afternoon.

Shortly after their arrival at the McBay home, guests were asked to find places at small tables centered with pink roses, ice cream, cake and other dainties were served to precede bridge play, with Mrs. Leon Lauderbach assisting the hostess at this time.

Mrs. Worth Alexander and Mrs. R. P. Meairs, who held first and second scores in cards, were rewarded with bubble bowls in wisteria shade.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. McBay were Mesdames Kenneth King, Worth Alexander, Thomas Tournat, Frank Dane, R. P. Meairs, Lu Ella Greene, Leon Lauderbach, Harold Moomaw, Orla Householder and the Misses Rowena Newcomb, Marjorie Lauderbach and Alberta Greene.

Garden Dinner Presented At Huffman Home

Although monopoly was principal after-dinner diversion of a group of guests invited to dine with Dr. and Mrs. Harry Huffman Wednesday evening in the garden of their home, 2340 Riverside Drive, it shared interest with accounts of summer vacation experiences.

For the greater number of the guests have been enjoying the beaches or the mountains and several of them are lingering at nearby Balboa until later in September. Dr. and Mrs. Huffman have shared their delightful garden with friends from time to time throughout the summer, but none of the parties has had a more beautiful evening than this latest one. For the full moon gave added radiance to the night, and vied with the blaze on the garden hearth in adding charm to the setting. The table was arranged near the grill with its friendly fireplace, and much of the menu was served smoking hot from this grill.

In monopoly which followed, Mrs. Fred Crowell and Robert Fernandez secured the most expert financiers and received the prizes awarded by their hosts. At the same time Mrs. Fernandez and Otto R. Haan had a measure of consolation in their "bankrupt" state, from similar gifts.

Dr. and Mrs. Huffman's guests were Messrs. and Mesdames A. Fred Crowell, Claude H. Van Antwerp, Fred Newcomb, Otto Haan, George Dunton, and Robert Fernandez.

The Crowells and the Newcombs are among those remaining for a longer stay at the beach, and the Van Antwerps spend the greater part of their time at Balboa. Dr. and Mrs. Huffman were at Catalina for a late summer stay. Mrs. Huffman and her little daughter, Betty Ann and Harriet LaRue spend their vacation there to be joined by Dr. Huffman, who flew across the channel for the week-end.

Private Duty Section Has Dinner Tonight

Private Duty section of California State Nurses' association district 15 will hold a steak fry tonight at 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Franklin Grouard, 1076 West Fourth street. Miss Lena Neumeyer will be co-hostess. Mrs. Dale, new chairman of the section, will preside over the meeting.

Miss Stella Friedinger of San Francisco, director of nurses of California State Nurses' association, was speaker last night at a meeting of the registry committee of district 15 of the association, held in St. Joseph hospital.

Present were Sister Mary Ange and Mrs. Greba Dale, Mrs. Alice Theal, Mrs. Rose Jackson, Mrs. Ann Lockhart, Mrs. Mabel Grouard and Miss Lena Neumeyer.

Recent Travels

Miss Alice Dakan of Long Beach was expected to arrive today to spend the Labor Day weekend with her aunt, Mrs. L. R. Hendrie, 2323 Bush street.

Mrs. Hendrie returned recently from a several weeks' stay in Tennessee and Missouri with relatives. She made an extended visit in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson in Memphis, Tenn. The Andersons, their little daughter, Miss Dorothy Alice Tubbs, who had been in Santa Ana visiting with her; and the Donald Jeromes, 2323 Bush street, this city, were present for a family reunion staged in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Dakan, in Denver, Colo., in August.

Mrs. Hendrie made the return trip in company with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome.

Church Societies

Meta Adolph club members of First Christian church were entertained last night in the home of Miss Ruth Jublin, 1036 West Fourth street. Refreshments were served at the close of an informal session.

In the group were the Misses Lois Taylor, Marie Rash, Geneva Sweitzer, Maud Williams, La Dora Catherman, Marguerite Thompson; Mrs. William Sansom, Mrs. Laura Green, and the hostess.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. E. T. McFadden, camp director, who is vacationing at South Fork, visited the girls several times.

Counselors included Mrs. R. R. Russick, director; Miss Florence Knowlton, camp manager; Dr. Julia Hinrichs, camp doctor; Miss Clara Spelman, music; Miss Charlotte Mack, dramatics; Miss Katherine Chapman, Miss Kay Gorath, arts and crafts; Miss Vanche Plumb, Miss Evelyn Kent, nature study; Miss Helena Bailey, swimming.

Janet Briggs Arrives Soon From Austria

That Miss Janet Briggs is now well on her homeward way after three years' absence while she continued her metallurgical engineering studies abroad, is the pleasant news received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Briggs, 644 North Broadway, whose latest letters from their daughter contained news of her sailing from Hamburg on August 22. She is sailing on a Hamburg-American liner and with a few stops at ports of call en route, is due to reach Los Angeles harbor on September 24.

Mr. Briggs will not be reunited with his daughter until early October when he is to return from the Alaskan hunting trip upon which he is now engaged, according to annual custom. In the meantime Miss Janet's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons, and their daughter, Miss Betty Timmons, and her aunts, the Misses Louise and Gertrude Potts are among relatives anticipating her return. Miss Gertrude Potts had the pleasure of seeing much of the continent with her niece a year ago while on a world tour.

During her three years of study in Austria, Miss Briggs secured her Master's and Engineer's degrees after having taken her Bachelor's degree at Stanford University. She has been spending the past few months in Roumania where she joined Dr. and Mrs. Crooks while Dr. Crooks was studying for his Master's degree in Bucharest. He attained this only a short time after Miss Briggs, his former pupil at Stanford, received hers in Leben, Austria.

Future plans of this brilliant young Santa Ana girl are still more or less nebulous, but with her specialized knowledge of mineralogy and especially of steel, it is probable that her first serious work after her return will be along laboratory and research lines.

Bride-Elect Reveals Wedding Plans To Class Members

To her associates in a Sunday school class of the Church of Christ at Broadway and Walnut streets, Miss Lois Lamb Wednesday night made formal announcement of her engagement and approaching marriage to George Winter. The bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. H. J. Lamb, were co-hostesses, entertaining in their home, 530 South Sycamore street.

Decorations furthered the same theme that had been employed last week when first announcement of the betrothal was made to a group of friends invited to the Lamb home. White booklets printed in black and titled, "The Old Story—the Season's Best Seller" were favors Wednesday night, as they were for the first party. The pages included a picture of the couple, together with October 18 as the chosen wedding date.

The co-hostesses had chosen luncheon as diversion Wednesday night. Miss Lillie McGowen, who scored high, received a salad bowl set; Miss June Sewell was consoled with a crystal bonbon dish. Ice cream slices centered with wedding slippers were served with angel-food cakes topped with double wedding bells. Tables spread with white linens were set with pink glassware and appointed with nuptials designed with wedding bells. Centerpieces were clusters of pink asters to match bouquets of flowers arranged throughout the home.

Present with Mrs. Lamb and Miss Lamb were Mesdames Arthur Holmes, George Duke, Fred Germany, Ernest Ballow, Maurice Stockton, Hardy Holmes, James H. Sewell, Hubert Riggan and the Misses Louise McGowen, Lillie McGowen, Eunice McGowen, June Sewell, Lillie Forsberg and the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. C. B. Stockton, all of this city; Mrs. Irvin Greer, Bell; Miss Andrew Ricketts, Orange.

DESSERT BRIDGE EVENT

Extending a pleasant courtesy to a little group of friends, Mrs. Harry Spencer was hostess to a dessert bridge party Wednesday afternoon in her home, 2351 North Park boulevard.

Dessert was served at the small tables, one appointed in rose glassware with a centerpiece of rosebuds; the other set with ruby glassware and a centerpiece of fuschias.

Table prizes rewarded Mrs. A. H. Farrar and Mrs. E. B. Sprague for their high scores. Other guests of Mrs. Spencer were Mrs. C. F. Skirven, Mrs. Joseph Metzgar, Mrs. Alex Brownridge, Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mrs. Eugene Tradewell.

Former J. C. Students At Berkeley, Pledge Alpha Delta Pi

That two Santa Ana students entering University of California at Berkeley, the Misses Ruth Warner and Barbara Davis, have pledged Alpha Delta Pi sorority, was word conveyed today in letters received here.

Miss Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Warner, 1116 South Ross street, enters Berkeley as a junior, and will major in Journalism and English. She has already been appointed to a post on the "California Daily." Miss Davis is entering for her sophomore year, like Miss Warner having had earlier work at Santa Ana Junior college. Both had such high scholastic records that their pledging to a leading sorority was a foregone conclusion. They are already established in the chapter house on the campus.

Mrs. Charles V. Davis, who accompanied her daughter north for opening of the school year, is remaining for a little visit in San Francisco where she will be joined tomorrow by Mr. Davis for a Labor day weekend before they return to their home, 1615 North Broadway.

Announcements

Congregational Women's Union has announced an end of summer business session for next Wednesday, when members will meet in the church basement dining room for a 12 o'clock covered dish luncheon, for which each one is to provide her own table service. At 2 o'clock will come the business meeting in the bungalow where plans for the remainder of the year will be discussed.

Past Presidents' Club of Women's club of Santa Ana will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. W. H. Kuhn, 526 North Artesia street. Members needing transportation are asked to telephone Mrs. Kuhn, 1862-R.

Sarah A. Reunds Tent D. U. V. Past Presidents' club will meet Thursday from 2 to 5 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Luella Hill, 1909 Bush street.

Shower Comes As Sequel To Dinner Party

Following closely upon announcement of the engagement of Miss Lois Lamb and George Winter was a potter's shower at which the bride-elect was complimented last night when Mrs. Edgar Eisner was hostess in her home, 633 East Garden Grove boulevard, Garden Grove.

Six-thirty o'clock was the hour for the affair, which opened with the serving of a delicious chicken dinner. Assisting the hostess at this time was her mother, Mrs. A. T. Holmes.

White linen damask covered the table which was adorned with tall tablers and a centerpiece of asters in lavender and white. Place cards in the same color combination were designed as tiny umbrellas.

Master Bobbie Eisner, son of the home, had the privilege of presenting Miss Lamb with the attractively wrapped packages which guests had provided. He made his entrance with a little wagon, "Honeymoon Express," stopping before the honoree. Redwood and yellow Franciscan pottery in a service for four was the gift of the assembled group.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. Eisner in addition to her mother, Mrs. A. T. Holmes were Miss Lamb and her sister and mother, Miss Alice Lamb and Mrs. Hugo Lamb; Mrs. James H. Sewell, Miss June Sewell, Mrs. H. E. Holmes, Miss Lucille Holmes, Mrs. H. C. Collins, Mrs. William Jenkins, Mrs. J. H. Chambliss, Mrs. Louis Hoff.

Depart for North

Mrs. C. A. McDillery Jr. (Pauline Lockwood) and her mother, Mrs. Ethel Lockwood, 503 French street expect to leave Sunday for the north. Mrs. Lockwood will accompany her daughter as far as San Luis Obispo, where they will be joined by Mr. McDillery.

After a little dinner party with the young people, Mrs. Lockwood will return to Santa Ana, and her son-in-law and daughter will continue to San Francisco where they will establish their home. The McDillery-Lockwood wedding was an event of mid-August.

GOOD GARDENING

By Mrs. H. Cardozo Sloan, Corona Del Mar
Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

SEPTEMBER
September! Fall garments in the shop windows; fig jam and green tomato pickles in the kitchen; chrysanthemums in the garden. Persimmons ripening in beauty among the yellowing leaves; young mockingbirds singing softly deep in their throats; a faint tang of autumn spicing the lingering warmth of summer; the "hunter's moon" rising clear and golden in the evening sky. September! Families gathering happily homeward from vacation days. School again, clubs again, all the routine of home life again — and fall flower shows again.

Remember our own Orange County Flower Show sponsored by the Garden Clubs of Orange county. To be held at the Valencia Ballroom, on Highway 101 between Anaheim and Santa Ana, September 12th and 13th. Every gardener should contribute his proudest plant and choicest blooms, and every man and his wife should be there to give the homage due to the floral yield of our county gardens. If you attend only one flower show this fall, let this be the one.

Of Street Plantings
Have you noticed how exceptionally lovely the planters have been this year? Even at the beach, due to the warm summer and absence of fog, they have been mounds of pink bloom. The shapeliness of these shrubs, the profusion of their bloom, the softness and delicacy of the flowers and their bitter-sweet fragrance combine to place them among our most charming flowering shrubs. I have noticed several places where planters have been used in street plantings most attractively. The hibiscus, also, is excellent for this purpose, foliage and flower alike are extremely pleasing. And the hibiscus is a splendid flower for our Coast region.

It is gratifying to notice in many communities a keener interest in beautifying parkings and highways. When one thinks how beautiful Southern California might be with a more liberal use of fine trees along highways and throughout towns, and of shrubs and flowering plants wherever it is possible to use them along the public ways, one wonders that we should be so blind to the opportunity to create this beauty, both for our own enjoyment and for the greater pleasure of the stranger within our gates.

The little community at Costa Mesa has made a valiant attempt at beautifying the dusty roadside along Newport boulevard. Wearying somewhat in well-doing they, for a time, put the plantings so laboriously put in show lack of attention and water. But this is changed now. The plantings of a few years back are being brought into fine condition, and more extensive landscaping is being done where the tracks of the old railroad have been removed.

This is being planted to Cocos plumosa palms, interspersed with a rare variety of strelitzia, S. nicotian. This grows up to some 25 feet in height, with immense leaves, broad and long, and flowers of blue. In years of special bloom of feathery palms and strelitzias with their tropical foliage and unusual bloom, with the lower plantings of shrubs and ground cover, will be truly a thing of beauty, a joy to all who pass along the highway, and a pride to the worthy citizens of Costa Mesa who have been instrumental in carrying out this beautification program. Foremost among these being Mr. Carl Spencer, who has given liberally of time, enthusiasm, money, and actual labor in this project.

Of Strelitzias
And speaking of strelitzias, the much admired strelitzia reginae, once so expensive that few of us could afford a "Bird of Paradise," is now quite moderately priced. I remember the first specimen of this plant I ever saw. One familiar to many residents of Santa Ana. It grew at the home of Dr. Wattle, opposite the Episcopal church in Santa Ana, in an angle of the house walls near the sidewalk. A huge clump of the broad banana-like leaves, the oddly shaped blooms in their gorgeous blue and orange easily resembling a flock of richly colored birds about to take flight. It is years since I have passed that spot. The strelitzia may be there yet—they are quite long lived.

The strelitzias, of which there are some five species, are natives of South Africa. They were named in honor of the wife of King George III, Charlotte Sophia, a patron of botany. S. reginae should have a rich soil, plenty of water, and considerable sunlight. It is usually propagated by division, or by suckers from around the old plants.

Of A Lovely Flower
Do you know the "Virginia Blue Bells," mertensia virginica? A lovely spring-blooming flower which is just becoming a favorite in California gardens. Suitable for the shady spots, and is perennial. The plant grows from one to two feet high, in the spring bearing a profusion of charming flowers. The individual flowers are about an inch long, and are borne in a loose panicle of pendent clusters. The color is a lovely porcelain-blue, the opening buds being a delicate pink. This makes an exquisite color combination and one that will delight anyone who plants mertensia. We emphasize that it is good for shade, as it will grow in considerable shade and is one of the most desirable plants for such a position.

Well, we gardeners have to get right down to business in September. September is sometimes called the "second spring" in California, but somehow one does not feel quite the same urge to be up and at the garden that one does in the real springtime. Perhaps because there is still so much hangover of summer bloom in the garden, to say nothing of the fall flowers, it is easy to let the days slip by without doing all that should be done for the glory of the garden next winter and next spring.

So, along with pulling out old plants and general tidying up, along with carefully tending the chrysanthemums, and keeping after the bugs (aphids seem to know it is "second spring"), along with fertilizing the shrubs that will bloom this winter—along with all these things, keep at least half an eye focused on the future. Spend all the money you can possibly squeeze out of your garden budget on bulbs. You'll be thankful when spring comes. Nothing will so melt the heart in your bosom as the bloom of the spring flowering bulbs.

The narcissus is easy to grow, and there are so many lovely ones. You can't possibly have too many of these. But this is as well in Southern California as in Eastern gardens, though fine ones may be grown with care. I am interested in some new hybrid tulips said to be especially suited for southern gardens. They are called "Chinese lantern tulips" because they "glow with an iridescent light." The colors are exquisite and of a good range. A bulb, 22 inches tall, with a cupped bloom, Don't overlook the "little" bulb, the scillas, muscari, snowdrops and so on. Dear little things they all are. Or the Watsonias, so splendid in the new hybrids. Freesias grow like weeds. And fine for cutting are the sparaxias and ixias.

Then, "the sower goes forth to sow the seed." In September, Salpiglossis, nemesis, poppies, larkspur, calendulas, centaureas. In flats for spring bloom sow seed of pansy, snapdragon, stock, violas, calceolarias.

What a wealth of flowers we may have here in our favored climate—what variety of form and texture—what richness of color.

"Who can paint
Like Nature? Can imagination boast.
Or can it mix them with that matchless skill,
And lose them in each other, as appears
In every bud that blows?"

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Sept. 4. — Mrs. Charles Applebury and daughters, the Misses Betty and Pauline, and son, Leonard Applebury, returned Tuesday from Victorville, where they visited Mrs. Applebury's sister and brother and their families. Mrs. Betty Church, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana, who for the past five years has resided in North Carolina where Mr. Church is in business, is expected home about October 1 for her first visit since going to North Carolina.

It's the best STEAK you ever bought

THAT'S WHAT YOU'LL SAY ABOUT THE STEAK YOU PURCHASE HERE

UNIFORMLY fine meats are guaranteed by Safeway's quality-control plan.

Today . . . visit any Safeway market. Note how expertly all Guaranteed Meats have been prepared; the large amount of delicious meat . . . the lack of excess bone and waste that you would otherwise pay for. Then choose your favorite cut and judge it at dinner tonight.

HERE ARE THE FIVE WAYS SAFEWAY CONTROLS MEAT QUALITY

1. IMPROVED MEAT SELECTION (Safeway buys top-grade meats only)
2. SCIENTIFIC MEAT AGING (to bring out almost tenderness)
3. WASTELESS CUTTING OF MEATS (you don't pay for excess bone and waste)
4. CONSTANT TEMPERATURE CONTROL (even the delivery trucks are refrigerated)
5. DAILY DELIVERY OF MEATS (you get these meats only at peak of perfection!)

BROILED STEAK—Have a porterhouse, T-Bone, or sirloin steak cut 1 to 2 inches thick. Thoroughly pre-heat the broiling oven, having the oven regulator set as high as possible. Place the steak in the center of the rack so that there is a distance of about 3 inches between the top of the steak and the heat. Leave the broiling door partly open. When the steak is nicely browned on one side, season it with salt and pepper and turn. When the second side becomes browned, the steak will be done. Only one turning is necessary. A steak 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick will require twenty-five to thirty minutes to be cooked medium-rare. Season the second side and serve immediately on a very hot platter.

NEW DOLLAR BILL DESIGN EXPLAINED

An explanation of the design appearing on the new 1935 series of one dollar bills was given today by the Security First National bank. The design represents both the obverse and reverse of the Great Seal of the United States, which was adopted in 1776.

The obverse of the Great Seal is the familiar American eagle with a shield, grasping an olive branch in one talon and arrows in the other, surmounted by 13 stars and the Latin motto "E Pluribus Unum."

The reverse of the Great Seal is the unfinished pyramid, surmounted by an eye in a triangle, and the motto "ANNUIT COEPTIS" (rendered as "God favors our undertakings"). The pyramid is the symbol of the American Revolution, and the eye is the symbol of the American people.

Coffee can never be too good. So keep on trying to make each cup more delicious than the last, till some fine day you try Schilling Coffee.

BALANCED DIET NEEDED BY DOG

The dog owner who thinks that it is part of a dog's life to eat the scraps from the dinner table, or forever eat the same cereal, or the preparation that he chooses for the dog, is committing a grave wrong and perhaps, is seriously impairing the dog's health.

Dogs, like humans, require a balanced diet. They need the elements contained in a variety of foods—cereals, meats, vegetables and bone. Lacking one or more of these foods, they become susceptible to disease, peevish, and lazy.

One of the easiest ways of making sure that your dog receives a balanced diet is to feed him at least two or three times a week on a prepared dog food which indicates right on the label that it contains those elements which your dog needs. Most manufacturers of dog foods proportion these elements scientifically according to the requirements of the animal, and one dog food in particular is even vitaminized and mineralized to give your dog complete protection against disease.

Three Rules for Making Ice Cream

SUMMERTIME means "something cool" to eat or drink. Home-made ice cream is the always popular dessert. Here are three important steps in making delicious, creamy ice cream and show how in your electric refrigerator a reliable well-proportioned recipe—through mixing of ingredients—lasts throughout the year.

Since milk contains a high percentage of water which crystallizes in the process of freezing, ice cream and sherbets made with milk will be icy unless they contain a thickening material such as gelatin, eggs or cornstarch which give body to the mixture and prevent the forming of ice crystals. Slow, tooling freezing will cause deserts to be hard and icy. Careful combining of ingredients is very important if best results are to be obtained. The most important step in preparing the ice cream or sherbet is the way in which the beaten cream or egg whites are added to the half-frozen mixture. Always use the foundation mixture until it is firm enough to prevent it from liquefying while it is being beaten with a rotary beater as the recipe directs. This beating of the foundation mixture breaks up any ice crystals that have formed and, if carefully done, will produce a creamy-smooth ice cream or sherbet without further stirring of the mixture. When making ice cream in a G-E Refrigerator, I allow from an hour and three-quarters to two and a half hours for the entire freezing process, depending upon the richness of the mixture (richer mixtures require longer time for freezing). Deserts are often the most expensive item on a dinner menu. Home-made ice cream is inexpensive and will help you to save money on your food bill. They save your time because they are always made in advance and require no further attention. If you do not have an electric refrigerator, don't put off getting your order in for a new one. You need the daily help and pleasure a new refrigerator will give you every day this summer.

PLAIN VANILLA ICE CREAM

This is a simple, economical recipe for plain vanilla ice cream. Fruit pulp may be substituted for the milk if fruit flavors are desired. Best results are obtained when fruit is put through a sieve before using in frozen deserts. This helps to prevent ice crystals forming. Seal two cups of rich milk and add sixteen marshmallows and stir until completely dissolved. Pour into tray of refrigerator and freeze until mixture is about half frozen. Turn into mixing bowl and beat with rotary beater until mixture is free of lumps, fold in one cup of cream whipped until very thick but not stiff. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla extract. Return to freezing tray and freeze about one and one-half hours. Rest temperature control of your refrigerator for holding deserts at right consistency. Frozen deserts are improved in flavor and have a more even texture when made in advance and allowed to "mellow" at least twelve hours before they are served.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

Divide three-quarters of a cup of evaporated milk with three-quarters of a cup of cold water, seal, then add one-half cup sugar that has been sifted with one-third cup cocoa, two tablespoons cornstarch and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Cook until thick. Add 12 marshmallows and stir until dissolved. Flavor with two teaspoons vanilla. Chill and add one-half cup cream, whipped. Freeze without stirring.

URBINE MEAT MARKET WINS CUDAHY HONOR

Representatives of the Cudahy Packing company today conferred upon the Urbine Meat market in the Grand Central building the distinction of being the largest users of the Cudahy's Puritan Steer Beef in Orange county for the year ending August list. This makes the seventh consecutive year that Urbine's have used more of Cudahy's quality meats than any other market in Orange county.

Commenting upon this announcement, E. R. Urbine, proprietor of the Urbine market, said that years of experience in the meat industry has definitely proven to him that people want quality meats. Intelligent housewives know that young tender prime meats, while they may cost a cent or more per pound than inferior, off-standard meats, are in the end the greatest value because of the great increase in vitamins and other body-building qualities they possess.

Tests have proven that young prime beef may possess as much as 15 per cent more food value than the same number of pounds of inferior meats. And, in addition to this, the meat is more tender and has a more delicate flavor. All Cudahy's meats are delivered to us in dust-proof refrigerators and as soon as received are placed in our modern refrigerators, where they are kept under correct temperature until delivered to our customers. This assures the housewife that the fine quality of Cudahy's meats, which she has at this market, goes to her table in the finest condition modern science can produce.

SILVER ACRES

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peters and their son, Eugene, of Santa Ana, and their house guest, A. Watts, of Port Morgan, Colo., were visitors on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Reed on West Fourth street.

Mr. Jerome Scotland, of Santa Ana, was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scotland.

Mrs. Mary Howard and her children, Thelma and Virgil, went to Stanton on Wednesday evening to visit the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howard, who are now temporarily living at the S. Hilton home.

Mrs. Mae Hall and her son, George Hill, went to Los Angeles on Wednesday, when purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stoom.

Mrs. H. B. Hiegan, of Tustin, and Mrs. Clara Cantrell and her children, Juanita Lee and Phillip Cantrell, spent Tuesday at Balboa Bay, enjoying a picnic lunch and swim.

WINTERSBURG

Miss Agnes Huff leaves Monday for Los Angeles, where she will take a business course at the Woodbury college.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stewart and son, Donald, have arrived home from a month's trip to Colorado. Mrs. Dan Burkett and children, Dannie and Delores, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Clara Cantrell and her children, Juanita Lee and Phillip Cantrell, spent Tuesday at Balboa Bay, enjoying a picnic lunch and swim.

BUENA PARK

Miss Violet Watson has been appointed assistant librarian at the Buena Park library, replacing Miss Mollie Wolford. Miss Maxine Dull, who had been appointed to the position, secured full time employment in the Anaheim district.

Preliminary plans for a fall program will be made at the meeting of the American Legion post scheduled for tomorrow night at the Legion Memorial hall.

Miss Agnes Watson has gone to Fresno where she will attend the state teachers' college.

Wars that the United States HAS AVOIDED

Though the problem of how to keep our country out of war is far from being solved, there is encouragement in looking back and noting that peace efforts have succeeded much more often in the past than they have failed

By Henry W. Lawrence
Professor of History, Connecticut College

IN the history of the United States, war-preventers have succeeded a good deal oftener than they have failed. The reason why this fact is not more generally known is because their failures were very widely advertised by the wars that followed, but their successes were quickly forgotten after the war peril was averted.

Those who are trying to keep the United States out of war today might derive some encouragement from examining these successes; they might also get a few helpful hints toward repeating them.

Notwithstanding all of George Washington's efforts to keep America out of European conflicts, the United States was practically at war with France a year before his death. Practically at war, but not quite legally. A portly volume published by the U. S. Navy a few months ago calls this armed unpleasantness "The Quasi-War Between the United States and France," and dates it 1798-1801.

American merchant ships, even American ambassadors, had been very roughly handled by the wild new government of revolutionary France, and we boiled over with righteous indignation. We had been trying to keep neutral in the rapidly spreading struggle between France and Great Britain, and we had been having plenty of trouble with both belligerents; but when the French foreign minister tried to bulldoze our representatives into giving him a bribe, while the French navy was seizing hundreds of our ships, American public opinion blew up and we settled down to fight, without, however, declaring war.

WE established a navy department, and sent 14 men-of-war out to see what they could do against the overwhelming superiority of the French navy. We also permitted a few hundred privateers (legalized pirates) to see what they could do against the French merchant marine.

Ten thousand volunteers were called for three years' service, and there was a strong urge on the part of Alexander Hamilton and his friends for an alliance between the United States and Great Britain.

There was one man, however, who took seriously Washington's advice about the wisdom of the infant United States toddling into the no-man's-land of European warfare and that man, John Adams, happened to be the president. Almost single-handed, and amid a fury of contemptuous opposition, he set about arranging for a peaceful settlement of the disputes with France, and that nation was by this time ready to meet him half way.

Adams saved his country from a futile and disastrous participation in the brawls of Europe, and in consequence so increased his unpopularity that he was soon afterward defeated for re-election to the presidency.

George Washington himself, a few years earlier, had won bitter condemnation by refusing to lead his country into a war which many reckless citizens desired.

It was in 1794 that he sent John Jay to negotiate a treaty with England about the many quarrels and irritations left over from the American Revolutionary peace settlement. He knew how weak the new United States was, and how quickly she might be overwhelmed in a serious war, but most of his fellow citizens seemed madly ignorant of this peril.

Jay brought home as favorable a treaty as could be expected under the circumstances, and after some changes it was ratified; but the mob fury burst over both Jay and Washington as if they had treasonably betrayed their country.

This happened in Washington's second term, at whose end he was denounced as "an apostate or an imposter," "treacherous in private friendship and a hypocrite in public life," and his countrymen were publicly invited to rejoice that "the man who is the source of all the misfortunes of our country, is this day reduced to a level with his fellow citizens," and that "the name of Washington from this day ceases to give a currency to political iniquity, and to legalize corruption."

IN 1807 occurred the famous Leopard-Chesapeake affair, an outrage which was as infuriating then as was the torpedoing of the Lusitania more than a century later.

Britain apologized for this lawless seizure of alleged deserters on the decks of an American frigate, but she quite declined to give up impressing American sailors.

President Jefferson knew that the United States was unprepared for war. He saw also that we had as good reason for fighting France as for fighting England, since both had been ruthlessly violating our neutral rights. Therefore he began experimenting with something a good deal like what are now called "sanctions," except that in his case they were applied by a single nation instead of by a League and were directed against both belligerents instead of only one.

He considered both France and Great Britain guilty, and he hoped by his new policy to make it commercially worth while for both of them to behave themselves toward our trading rights; but the policy he used was drastic. The Embargo Act of Dec. 22, 1807, supplemented by two other acts early in 1808, simply forbade all exports to all foreign countries, and refused to let any American vessel clear for a foreign port.

Notwithstanding the very imperfect enforcement of this "sanctions" policy, and its comparatively slight effect upon the violators of our neutral rights, it inflicted grievous distress on American merchants, farmers and planters. The pressure for repeal or modification of the embargo became irresistible, accompanied with threats of violence, nullification, and even secession.

In March, 1809, the embargo was repealed, and in its place was enacted a law which prohibited all trade with France and Great Britain, but gave the president discretionary power to revive trade with either one as soon as she began to respect our neutral rights.

HERE Jefferson's administration came to an end. He had "kept us out of war," but many Americans were beginning to doubt that peace was worth the price they had been paying for it. Indeed, it was lack of popular support for Jefferson's peace policy that doubtless caused its partial failure, and its total abandonment in 1812.

It did, nevertheless, spare us the sufferings and losses of actual warfare until at last we chose to undergo them, not so much in defense of our rights as in support of our greed for the conquest of Canada in the futile War of 1812.

As the United States grew older and more powerful, her leaders rather naturally became more confident in her might and somewhat less conciliatory toward foreign nations. Their dealings with the decrepit empire of Spain illustrate the tendency.

Under the rule of Spain, the region called Florida had become a neighborhood nuisance to the United States. Escaped slaves, criminals and marauding Indians commonly used it as a hide-out from their law-enforcing pursuers.

One of these pursuers was a hard-bitten frontier warrior named Andrew Jackson, who bitterly resented having to stop short at the Florida boundary when he was in hot pursuit of murdering outlaws. On one occasion he did not stop, but went right on into this Florida hideout, slaughtered numerous Indians, hung a couple of British subjects whom he considered bad hombres, and did no end of damage to the dignity of several Spanish officials.

The foreign offices of Great Britain and Spain—especially Spain—made loud noises of protest, and demanded the scalp of Andrew Jackson.

AT this point, our extremely able and courageous secretary of state, John Quincy Adams, entered the fray and boldly asserted that Andrew Jackson's scalp was going to remain just where it grew.

He convinced Britain that the two subjects she had lost had previously forfeited all their rights to her protection. To Spain he delivered an ultimatum, requiring that she either keep order in Florida or sell it to the United States, because, said he, it "is in fact a derelict, open to the occupancy of every enemy, civilized or savage, of the United States, and serving no other earthly purpose than as a post of annoyance to them."

Spain fumed and blustered, but in 1819 she signed a treaty ceding Florida to the United States. A combination of vigor, firmness, and luck had abated a nuisance without causing a war.

It was this same John Quincy Adams, still acting as secretary of state, who had most to do with launching the so-called Monroe Doctrine. This solemn public notice to European powers to keep out of the Western Hemisphere in their search for new colonies has probably prevented the outbreak of numerous imperialistic wars since 1823, in which the United States could not have avoided entanglement.

Indeed, when our Civil War withdrew for a time our active support of this doctrine, France and Spain crashed in over it. France began to build up a Latin American empire by conquering Mexico, but withdrew in 1867 rather than fight the United States. Spain in 1861 annexed a part of the island of Santo Domingo. In 1864 she declared war on Peru and seized some of her island possessions. In 1865 she packed up and went back home the United States being once again able to defend the Monroe Doctrine.

THIS Monroe Doctrine has, of course, carried its own grave dangers of provoking a war with some European or Asiatic power that would not back down.

This was strikingly shown in the Venezuelan boundary controversy between President Cleveland and the British foreign office, beginning in 1895. That a war did not ensue was due to luck or to some special providence which overrules bungling diplomacy; for our president surely slapped the British Lion squarely in the face in most peremptory fashion.

The boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana was in dispute. Venezuela sought arbitration, but Britain refused it. President Cleveland notified the British foreign office that either they would agree to arbitration or else we, the United States, would decide where the right boundary line was, and enforce our decision. Britain agreed to arbitrate.

It was in Cleveland's first term that we engaged in another violent foreign dispute, this time with Great Britain and Germany—especially Germany. The subject matter of this row was the Samoan Islands, about 5000 miles southwest of San Francisco; the rival powers had been arguing hotly about who should steal the islands from their native rulers.

WAR vessels were rushed to the scene—German, American and British—each ready to defend its national honor and interest with its last drop of blood.

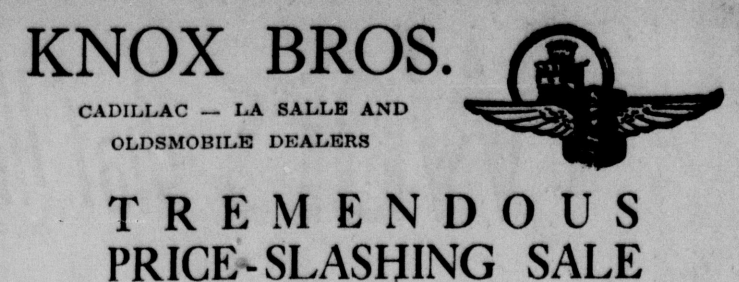

Just before the shooting began, however, the weather went bad, and bad weather in this tropical region is definitely bad. The wind blew at least twice as hard as anybody expected, and it wasn't very long before every last one of these bristling ships of war was a helpless wreck, excepting just one, more lucky than the rest.

Everybody felt a good deal less hot and furious after the storm—everyone, that is, who was still alive—and some weeks later a treaty was signed, ending this war before it really began.

There is not space here to mention even all the might-have-been wars that the United States has escaped.

President Grant was with difficulty dissuaded from taking Cuba away from Spain in the 70s. Theodore Roosevelt's secret pledge in 1904 to aid Japan against France and Germany put us on the spot, but luckily no war entanglement resulted for us.

Woodrow Wilson's "watchful waiting" postponed a war with Mexico till our involvement in the World War made us too busy, it not "too proud," to fight that troublesome neighbor. And lastly, we have today President Franklin Roosevelt's policy of heavily armed, good neighborliness, offering unity in the Americas, but provoking resentment and alarm in Japan.

10,000 TRAINED FORUM WORKERS

Dr. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education, who is responsible for the Orange county forum, estimates, according to quotation from United States Daily News, that a practical program for forum education would require 10,000 trained forum leaders.

Dr. Studebaker fails to say who is to train the forum leaders but, presumably it would follow, that they would be under the United States Commissioner of Education. Presumably, Dr. Studebaker intends to pay these men, whom he calls "experts in explanation", $5400 a year, as he is paying Homer Chaney here, while he is training them to become experts. Dr. Studebaker says that one criticism which has been offered is that it may mean an extension of the objectionable federal control over a learning process. He thinks the Federal Government should bear the major portion of the experiment. It is contended by the Doctor, as quoted in the United States News, that he has devised an efficient technique for promoting vocational education without objectionable federal control and a similar technique can be transferred to the new program.

Inference is that he will delegate another party to select and train the men. It is impossible to imagine how people can select and train people who have different ideas from their own. One cannot imagine Jesus Christ selecting disciples who did not believe as He believed. Neither can one imagine how the Commissioner of Education or the Superintendent of public schools can select people to direct education who have entirely different ideas and concepts from those making the selection.

Of course, this training is to come out of the pay envelopes of the workers. Dr. Studebaker fails to tell how this money, which he seems to be so willing to spend, is to be raised. He is not even well enough educated to know that it comes from the lowering of wages—taken out of the envelopes of the workers, before they get it, to pay for this hallucination on the part of the Commissioner of Education, who has infinite wisdom enough to educate adults on economic lines. There seems to be no signs whatever that he, or the President, or Superintendent of Santa Ana Schools, have any conception whatever as to the real cause of ten million people being out of work and the real wages of people getting lower and lower. Yet, they are perfectly willing, because they have the power, to betray a public trust and use that power to propagate their ideas on the helpless public.

ONE LESS BALLOT

The decision of the State Supreme Court which eliminates the petition seeking to enact a single tax and repeal the sales tax is good news to the citizens who are interested in a fair taxing system. There was little danger of the single tax passing, had it not been for the fact that it was, as the Supreme court said, misleading. It was coupled up with the repeal of the Sales tax. Every student of taxation will admit that the sales tax has a very serious objection and this gave its repeal a possible chance of being carried.

If the single tax is presented on its merits, then the people will have an opportunity to express their opinion as to whether they desire such a discriminatory tax as the single tax would be.

A single tax does not tax services and is not based on the theory that the citizen should pay to the support of the government in proportion as he costs the government. It is true that there should be an unearned increment tax but this would produce only a small part of what is needed to support the government.

So the voters will not be obliged this fall to vote on the question of a Single tax in view of the repeal of the Sales tax.

THE ALASKAN COLONIZATION PROJECT

We had the opportunity of visiting the Federal government's Manetauska Valley Colonization project in Alaska recently. This dream of Brain Truster Tugwell's certainly shows how little he knows about practical production. It is an example of the social workers and reformers attempting to manage things about which they know nothing.

In the first place, it cost at least $150 an acre to clear the land from the small trees of cottonwoods, spruce and birch. After this land is cleared, then buildings had to be built; roads had to be built and school houses had to be built.

It is contended by people who have made a study that the government now has from $100,000 to $200,000 invested for each family and each family is supposed to have 40 acres. After the land is cleared, certain kinds of vegetables can be grown, such as rhubarb, carrots, turnips, cabbage and vegetables of this nature. Potatoes can occasionally be grown but they are 90 per cent water, while the ordinary potato is only 80 per cent water. There can be little if any grain grown. Oats and peas are used as hay and they are obliged to put it on a stake in order to dry it. This necessitates endless amount of labor so that hay in the vicinity is worth from $60 to $70 a ton. The freight on bringing in grain, makes it sell for $60 or $70 a ton more than it does in the states.

It is, thus, easy to see it is impossible to produce milk at any reasonable price. Milk sells retail for 25 cents a quart in Fairbanks, 200 miles from the Manetauska valley. In the restaurant at Anchorage, close to the project, there was no milk available as a beverage. Yet the government has built a large and expensive creamery in the center for the Manetauska valley farmers. When milk cannot be bought and when hay cannot be grown and cured, other than by artificially putting it on stakes to be dried, and when the whole land is underlaid with ice, it is certainly a grand example of farming and managing by brain trusters.

We talked to a man who had lived on the territory and he said that this was the third time that there had been an attempt to colonize this land; that the houses formerly built on this land had been moved away; that none of the settlers had put out any crops of any consequence, excepting a little garden truck. The driver, who took us to the territory, said that many of those living there said that as soon as the government stopped feeding and supplying them with their wants, they would return to the states.

It costs more than twice as much to supply the wants of a family in Alaska, on account of the freight, than it does in the states.

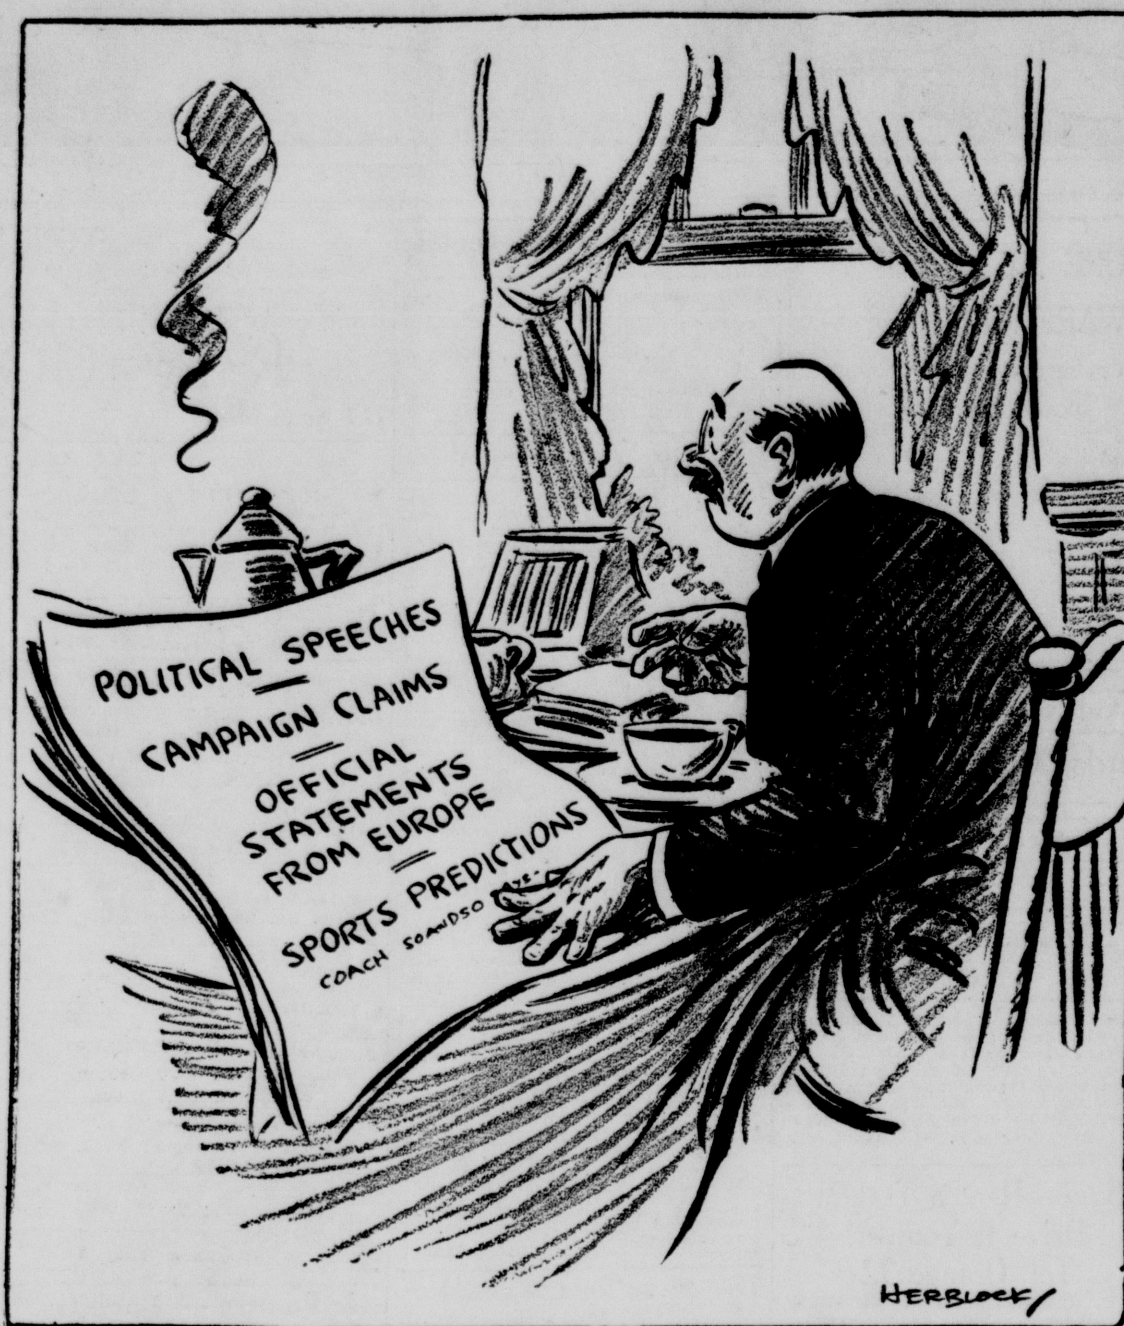

It is really a pity to take people away off and load them up with debts they can never pay in a project that has never been able to be carried out by private enterprise. It shows as well as anything possibly can, that private people have better judgment than the government officials' who are only interested in continuing their jobs and trying out their theories at the expense of the hard working citizen back in the states.

Every dollar that is wasted in Manetauska valley must eventually come out of the bread and butter of the great mass of hard working citizens who are producing the wealth back in the states. These remakers of our country are helping destroy it, as fast as they know how.

We want one or two companions of intelligence, probity, and grace to wear out life with; persons by whom we can measure ourselves, and who shall hold us fast to good sense and virtue.

'Pass The Salt, Please'

Little Benny's
Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

We was eating breakfast and ma was busy looking at pop's paper while pop was reading his mail, saying, Here it is again, Willyum, another lawyer asking a hypothetical question, now once and for all I'd like to know the meaning of a hypothetical question.

Well, you mite call it an assumption based on supposition for the purpose of arriving at a deduction based on fact, pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum that just leaves me in double darkness. Can't you give me a little simple homely example of a hypothetical question? she said.

Well yes, pop said. Supposing I were to say to you, my dear, if a husband of yours were to ask you this morning to set a savory platter of liver and onions under his beaming face this evening, would your response be in the affirmative? That would be a hypothetical question, pop said, and ma said, Well it wouldn't get a hypothetical answer, I assure you. There's still some cold liver in the refrigerator, that's how recently we had liver and onions, the idea, she said.

I see you grasp the idea, although the answer is not important, because it was a hypothetical question that was purely hypothetical, so to speak, pop said. I'll give you one more example, to make it quite clear. If I were to say to you, my dear, supposing a husband of yours, as a little loving surprise on his way to the office this morning, were to stop in at the butcher's and have him send over a few pounds of choice calf's liver, would you receive it in the spirit in which it was sent or would you reject it in a spirit of contumely and disdain? he said, and ma said, Willyum Potts if you dare to do such a thing I'll not only send it back faster than it came but we'll go up on the Avenue and eat in a restaurant.

O don't worry over a little hypothetical question, will you have another example? pop said, and ma said, I'll have fish, that's what I'll have.

Wich we did.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Everything around here seems to be air-cooled—office buildings, hotels, stores—everything but the politics, which, like the noonday sun, seems to have become a bit hot.

The lines are sharply drawn and the state would seem even at this September writing to show signs of being close. The meaning of the word "close" is best understood when it is recalled that Mr. Roosevelt carried Arizona by 43,000 in 1932, against a record of a Wilson victory in 1916 by 13,000, a Harding triumph of 7500 in 1920, and a Coolidge acquisition of the electoral vote in 1924, but a failure by 13,000 to get a majority. This was because the La Follette third ticket subtracted materially from the Democrats. Hoover carried Arizona against Smith in 1928 by 14,000 majority.

Today, as against 1932, there is no thought even among the Democrats of another 43,000 landslide for Roosevelt. A conservative estimate given me by the Democratic side was about 10,000 majority for Mr. Roosevelt, which, in a state that will cast more than the 115,000 votes it did four years ago, is not a very comfortable margin and is, therefore, subject to considerable variation as the campaign progresses.

It is quite significant that the Republicans do not even privately concede that the state will go Democratic. They are counting on a swing toward London as the campaign issues are evolved, but their primary hope lies in the possibility of the 1924 result.

For there will be a third party Lemke ticket on the ballot in this state, and that means a number of Townsend votes separated from the Roosevelt banner, where a good many of them might otherwise go. Until the strength of this third party trend is more accurately determined, it would appear that Arizona is leaning toward the Roosevelt electoral column.

To get at some of the common denominators of pro and anti Roosevelt sentiment here, I found that, among those opposed to the New Deal, there are accumulated grievances growing out of importation of Canadian cattle, resentment by cattle ranchers against the provisions of the Taylor grazing act, to some extent criticism by cotton farmers that they are losing foreign markets and by alfalfa farmers that the federal government is encouraging an increase of alfalfa planting in other sections of the country where cotton production has been curtailed.

Among business men, I found a rather intense feeling that the company's offer to sell its distributing system to the city for $165,000 under certain conditions. A substitute proposition to be made the company, will specify a schedule of $5 a month for ar lights burning all night, and 75 cents a month for 50 watt tungsten lights burning until 2 a. m.

national administration was engaged in a spending orgy that might have dire results when the time comes to pay for it. But I was advised, on the other hand, that some of the retail business people feel very much gratified with the increase in their business and are inclined to attribute it to the New Deal.

Business conditions in the state are on the whole good and there is a relative contentment here which is of the kind that usually helps the party in power. The Democrats boast about the amount of federal money that has been spent here. It interested me to ascertain, upon questioning several citizens, that they did not know exactly how much had been spent—they had an idea it was way up in the millions. Actually, it is several times the annual cost of state government in Arizona.

Official information made available to me at the local office of the National Emergency council reveals that, as of March 31, 1936, the state of Arizona was allotted $42,445,153 for federal PWA projects and contracts had been let for all but $2,000,000 of that sum, with actual expenditures being about $38,000,000 on March 31, too.

Now, exclusive of PWA, it appears that, as of July 10, the total expenditures in Arizona under the 1935 emergency relief act amounted to $30,000,000 of which $5,000,000 went to the WPA.

It would appear, therefore, that Arizona had about $72,000,000 of federal aid, of which practically none is reimbursable. Now, the finances of the state of Arizona are in fairly good shape. The legislature appropriates about $5,370,000 a year and two-thirds of it is raised by a sales tax and the other third by a direct property tax. The budget is nicely balanced.

I was curious here to find out what might have been the sentiment of the people of Arizona if the federal policy in 1933 and thereafter had been to loan the money to the states, taking some sort of promise to pay in the future over perhaps a period of 50 years. The answer given me by some of the most substantial citizens of both parties was that Arizona would never have borrowed that much federal money and would have taken care of relief and unemployment with only a fraction of the sum.

But since federal money was flowing like the milk and honey of old, this state has had presented to it various kinds of improvements which Arizona not only is glad to have but the final cost of which it doesn't mind the slightest degree feel embarrassed about loading on the taxpayers of other sections of the country. With such bounties from the federal Santa Claus, why Arizona should be regarded as a close state and one that the Republicans believe they have a fighting chance to win seemed a bit puzzling to me. But maybe the citizens of Arizona, so many of whom are independent of party lines, are counted upon to learn during the campaign more than they do now about what's going to happen to business and prices of necessities if federal finances continue as they are today and invisible sales taxes begin to make a real dent in the family budget.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

BURKE WAS HALF RIGHT

I am becoming terribly tired of reading book after book which indicates the tradition of private enterprise and political liberty on the grounds that it is an incurably selfish philosophy incapable of securing economic well being to the millions.

I am particularly tired of the habit of so many writers who go back to Adam Smith, Edmund Burke, and their kind, quoting at length from them, and then blandly assuming that their ideas are the ideas of the intelligent modern business and industrial leaders.

For instance, I have just finished reading Harold Laski's new volume on The Rise of Liberalism, The Philosophy of a Business Civilization.

Mr. Laski quotes at length from Edmund Burke as indicating the essential spirit and philosophy of Western capitalism.

Burke was against an undue centralization of political authority, but he did not feel the same way about the centralization of economic power.

"Without question," he once said, "the monopoly of authority (meaning political authority) is in every instance and in every degree, an evil; but the monopoly of capital is the contrary. It is a great benefit, and a benefit particularly to the poor."

If this were still the belief of intelligent modern economic leadership, I should join Mr. Laski in his sweeping condemnation of the tradition of private enterprise.

But every really intelligent economic leader knows by now that Burke was only half right.

Monopoly of power—whether political or economic—is an evil that must be excised from our national life.

No political leadership will get far that fights for the centralization of political power unless it also fights for the concentration of economic power at the same time.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

TELL THE TEACHER

When you enter a child in school, a stranger to the teacher and to all she stands for, tell her about any striking defect he has so that she will make no mistake in dealing with him.

Carl had a speech defect. He could not talk clearly enough to make strangers understand. His mother did not tell the teacher because she was afraid that the teacher might think there was something the matter with him, that he was dumb, or that he was not bright. She kept Carl's affliction a secret.

There are no secrets in the classroom. Before many days have passed the teacher knows all about the children, all that shows, and is expressed. This teacher knew that Carl did not talk just fifteen minutes after his mother had left him. "What is our name?" asked the teacher, pen poised above the record card upon her desk. No answer. Again she asked, "What is your name, dear?" No answer. Carl dropped his head, his cheeks burned, but no words came. The teacher looked at him for a long minute, then laid her pen down and began the reading lesson.

"Now you say it, little boy. You say this word we have learned." Down went Carl's head, up came the scarlet in his cheeks. "So," thought the teacher, "This child does not talk, and his mother left him here without a word. Now what?"

For a month the teacher tried to get Carl to speak, but he would not attempt to make a sound. Then she visited his mother. "O, yes, he talks. He tells me everything that happens at school. He says the reason he does not talk to you is that you scare him. He is afraid of you. If you had a little more patience with him he would talk to you too. He isn't dumb."

The teacher was angry. She had done all in her power to get the child to talk. He wouldn't. His mother said he could. Well, she would see about this. Next day she said to Carl, "Read the next line." Carl was silent, and his look indicated that he intended to remain so. "All right. You go sit on that chair in the corner until you can talk. I'm about tired of this." Carl went to the corner and cried all morning. Then he cried all afternoon. When the class was dismissed the teacher took him and tried to get him to say one word, and failed.

"I don't believe this child can talk. I'm going to have him examined and find out," said she. When Carl's mother heard this she was excited and said, "His talks, but he doesn't talk plainly. And you have scared him so he can't talk at all."

The speech specialist said that the child could speak, but that he had a speech defect that would need expert treatment. It could be helped a good deal, perhaps, cured, if he was handled the right way. He would have to attend the speech class for a while and return to his regular class for certain periods a day. It was a mistake to try to teach him in the regular grades.

Precious time was lost with Carl. If the teacher had been told the truth he might have been saved a lot of suffering and had been sooner. Tell the teacher about any difficulty the child may have, even a slight one, so she cannot misinterpret it when she comes upon it, as she is likely to do, if she is not warned.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Touching Things," in which he tells parents how to teach children to amuse themselves. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. (Copyright, 1936, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

ADDITION —

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Sometimes footnotes are more important than texts. For instance, there is the treasury daily statement on income and outgo. On the day that President Roosevelt announced his revised budget, the treasury came out with its usual summary to show how the books stood after the first two months of this fiscal year.

It showed the regular federal departments had spent $15,000,000 more than in the same period last year; public buildings expenditures were up $1,000,000; the army up $21,000,000; the navy up $17,000,000; social security, $25,000,000; public highways $17,000,000; rivers and harbors $13,000,000; resettlement $20,000,000, and so on. In fact, nearly everything was up except the expenditures for those agencies which have been abolished since last year.

But at the bottom of the column of all these up's, the figures disclosed that total expenses were down. Total this year, $987,000,000; total last year to date, $1,248,000,000; saving this year $261,000,000.

FOOTNOTES —

The explanation of how all these ups could total to a down is that some of the expenditures carried a barely noticeable symbol referring to footnote B. The footnote indicated the RFC had collected about $200,000,000 on its loans; the Commodity Credit corporation was similarly credited with $66,000,000; AAA $10,000,000. These credits have been reduced from the expenditures before the expenditures were totaled.

If they had not been, the totals would have shown:

Expenditures so far this year $1,272,201,711.04.

Expenditures for same period last year $1,259,466,413.45.

Increase of expenditures this year $12,735,297.59.

In other words, the result depended entirely on who added the figures. Chairman Farley could undoubtedly have added it accurately, as the treasury did, to denote a saving of $262,000,000; and the Republicans would have totaled it to an increase of about $13,000,000. The funny part of it is, both would be right.

Expenditures have run that much higher, but the income from repaid loans have made the net total that much lower.

RELIEF —

Mr. Roosevelt's revised budget is subject to somewhat the same political discrimination. He estimates, but does not add, an additional $500,000,000 (or less) for relief appropriations which he says will be necessary to finish out the fiscal year.

His totals indicate relief is being cut from about $2,500,000,000 to $1,800,000,000 but if you add in the loose $500,000,000 which he expects to ask for, you will find relief at $2,300,000,000 this year instead of $1,800,000,000.

Thus the possible saving is half a billion instead of a billion, and the net of it all is that no one knows now whether the curtailment of relief will permit a balancing of the budget anytime soon.

TROUBLE —

What the experts got out of Mr. Roosevelt's frank and free budget announcement was this predicament:

Government revenues are increasing due to better business. They may be 20 to 25 per cent above expectations. At the same time, expenditures are not decreasing to the extent expected. Better business has failed to cancel the demands for relief.

SOLUTION —

In this case, the only thing to do is to reach for the treasury cash box. It was not a sudden decision. As far back as last budget time, owlish treasury advisers suggested that, inasmuch as everything was then going smoothly, a tremendous cash balance should be accumulated for time of need. The accumulation has reached two billion, whereas the pre-New Deal custom was to keep not more than a few hundred million dollars in the treasury.

Mr. Roosevelt's accounting shows he intends to take a billion from this source, thus keeping the deficit down and the debt likewise. It seems, therefore, that the only safe conclusion for the milkman in Omaha is that everything is all right on the budget now, that no one knows whether it will be later, and that, in the meantime, everyone should do his own adding.
